Dictionary Catalog Schomburg Collection of Negro Literature and History,1962 Dictionary Catalog of the Schomburg Collection of Negro Literature & History Schomburg Center for Research in Black Culture,1962 Dictionary Catalog of the Schomburg Collection of Negro Literature and History Schomburg Collection of Negro Literature and History,1967 Resources in Women's Educational Equity , An Intuitive Exploration of Artificial Intelligence Simant Dube,2021-06-21 This book develops a conceptual understanding of Artificial Intelligence AI Deep Learning and Machine Learning in the truest sense of the word It is an earnest endeavor to unravel what is happening at the algorithmic level to grasp how applications are being built and to show the long adventurous road in the future An Intuitive Exploration of Artificial Intelligence offers insightful details on how AI works and solves problems in computer vision natural language understanding speech understanding reinforcement learning and synthesis of new content From the classic problem of recognizing cats and dogs to building autonomous vehicles to translating text into another language to automatically converting speech into text and back to speech to generating neural art to playing games and the author s own experience in building solutions in industry this book is about explaining how exactly the myriad applications of AI flow out of its immense potential The book is intended to serve as a textbook for graduate and senior level undergraduate courses in AI Moreover since the book provides a strong geometrical intuition about advanced mathematical foundations of AI practitioners and researchers will equally benefit from the book Princeton Alumni Weekly ,1939 Modeling Individual Differences in Perceptual Decision Making Joseph W. Hout,Cheng-Ta Yang,James T. Townsend,2017-01-18 To deal with the abundant amount of information in the environment in order to achieve our goals human beings adopt a strategy to accumulate some information and filter out other information to ultimately make decisions Since the development of cognitive science in the 1960s researchers have been interested in understanding how human beings process and accumulate information for decision making Researchers have conducted extensive behavioral studies and applied a wide range of modeling tools to study human behavior in simple detection tasks and two choice decision tasks e g discrimination classification In general researchers often assume that the manner in which information is processed for decision making is invariant across individuals given a particular experimental context Independent variables including speed accuracy instructions stimulus properties i e intensity and characteristics of the participants i e aging cognitive ability are assumed to affect the parameters in a model i e speed of information accumulation response bias but not the way that participants process information e g the order of information processing Given these assumptions much modeling has been accomplished based on the grouped data rather than the individual data However a growing number of studies have demonstrated that there were individual differences in the perceptual decision process In the same task context different groups of the participants may process information in different manners The capacity and architecture of the decision mechanism were found to vary across individuals implying that humans decision strategies can vary depending on the context to maximize their performance In this special issue we focused on a particular subset of cognitive models particularly accumulator models multinomial processing trees and systems factorial technology SFT as applied to perceptual decision making The motivation for the focus on perceptual decision making is threefold Empirical studies of perception have grown out of a history of making a large number of observations for each individual so as to achieve precise estimates of each individual s performance This type of data rather than a small number of observations per individual is most amenable to achieving precision in individual level and group level cognitive modeling Second the interaction between the acquisition of perceptual information and the decisions based on that information to the extent that those processes are distinguishable offers rich data for scientific exploration Finally there is an increasing interest in the practical application of individual variation in perceptual ability whether to inform perceptual training and expertise or to guide personnel decisions Although these practical applications are beyond the scope of this issue we hope that the research presented herein may serve as the foundation for future endeavors in that domain
