Child Soldiers in the Western Imagination David M Rosen, 2015-10-12 When we hear the term child soldiers most Americans imagine innocent victims roped into bloody conflicts in distant war torn lands like Sudan and Sierra Leone Yet our own history is filled with examples of children involved in warfare from adolescent prisoner of war Andrew Jackson to Civil War drummer boys who were once viewed as symbols of national pride rather than signs of human degradation In this daring new study anthropologist David M Rosen investigates why our cultural perception of the child soldier has changed so radically over the past two centuries Child Soldiers in the Western Imagination reveals how Western conceptions of childhood as a uniquely vulnerable and innocent state are a relatively recent invention Furthermore Rosen offers an illuminating history of how human rights organizations drew upon these sentiments to create the very term child soldier which they presented as the embodiment of war s human cost Filled with shocking historical accounts and facts and revealing the reasons why one cannot spell infantry without infant Child Soldiers in the Western Imagination seeks to shake us out of our pervasive historical amnesia It challenges us to stop looking at child soldiers through a biased set of idealized assumptions about childhood so that we can better address the realities of adolescents and pre adolescents in combat

Presenting informative facts while examining fictional representations of the child soldier in popular culture this book is both eye opening and thought provoking

The Professor's House Willa Cather, 2024-02-02 The moving was over and done Professor St Peter was alone in the dismantled house where he had lived ever since his marriage where he had worked out his career and brought up his two daughters It was almost as ugly as it is possible for a house to be square three stories in height painted the colour of ashes the front porch just too narrow for comfort with a slanting floor and sagging steps As he walked slowly about the empty echoing rooms on that bright September morning the Professor regarded thoughtfully the needless inconveniences he had put up with for so long the stairs that were too steep the halls that were too cramped the awkward oak mantles with thick round posts crowned by bumptious wooden balls over greentiled fire places Certain wobbly stair treads certain creaky boards in the upstairs hall had made him wince many times a day for twenty odd years and they still creaked and wobbled He had a deft hand with tools he could easily have fixed them but there were always so many things to fix and there was not time enough to go round He went into the kitchen where he had carpentered under a succession of cooks went up to the bathroom on the second floor where there was only a painted tin tub the taps were so old that no plumber could ever screw them tight enough to stop the drip the window could only be coaxed up and down by wriggling and the doors of the linen closet didn't fit He had sympathized with his daughters dissatisfaction though he could never quite agree with them that the bath should be the most attractive room in the house He had spent the happiest years of his youth in a house at Versailles where it distinctly was not and he had known many charming people who had no bath at all However as his wife said If your country has contributed one thing at least to civilization why not have it Many a night after blowing out his study lamp he had leaped into that tub clad in his pyjamas to give it another coat of some one of the many paints that were advertised to behave like porcelain and didn't
