Translational Politics in Southeast Asian Literatures Grace V. S. Chin, 2021-03-15 Highlighting the interconnections between Southeast Asia and the world through literature this book calls for a different reading approach to the literatures of Southeast Asia by using translation as the main conceptual framework in the analyses and interpretation of the texts languages and cultures of the following countries Cambodia Malaysia Singapore Indonesia Brunei Darussalam and the Philippines Through the theme of translational politics the contributors critically examine not only the linguistic properties but also the metaphoric symbolic and semiotic meanings images and representations that have been translated across societies and cultures through local and global consumption and circulation of literature new media and other cultural forms Using translation to unlock and decode multiple different languages narratives histories and worldviews emerging from Southeast Asian geo literary contexts this book builds on current scholarship and offers new approaches to the contestations of race gender and sexuality in literature which often involve the politically charged discourses of identity language and representation At the same time this book provides new perspectives and future directions in the study of Southeast Asian literatures Exploring a range of literary and cultural products including written texts performance and cinema this volume will be a key resource for students and researchers interested in translation and cultural studies comparative and world literature and Southeast Asian studies Present Tense Narration in Contemporary Fiction Irmtraud Huber, 2016-09-30 In this book Irmtraud Huber considers a wide range of contemporary novels to explore the variety of possibilities and effects of the use of the present tense as well as investigating the reasons for its popularity By illustrating the complexity and sophistication of four different types of contemporary usage Huber's discussion goes some way towards refuting those critical voices which consider present tense narration a passing fad and stylistic affectation As a tense of narration the present can serve to tell different stories than the past tense or can tell them differently By no means a passing fad it is an important characteristic of contemporary literature A History of the Booker Prize Merritt Moseley, 2021-08-30 In this book Merritt Moseley offers a brief history of the Booker Prize since 1992 With a short chapter covering each year we follow the change in criteria the highs and lows short lists winners and controversies of the Booker Prize The book also functions as an example of literary criticism for each of the books involved analyzing the judging process and the winning books Exploring themes such as literary vs popular fiction the role of Postcolonial work in what began as a very British prize the role of marketing publishing and the Booker organization itself the book offers a crucial view into literary prize culture The book spends time looking at exclusions as well as the overall role and function of the literary prize What books aren t included and why Why has the Booker become so significant This book will be of use to anyone with an interest in or studying contemporary literature literary prizes literary culture and British literature as well as publishing studies The State of Race Sze Wei Ang, 2019-01-01 An innovative comparative study of the role racial stereotypes play in expressing state power under globalization Contemporary ideas about race are often assumed to be products of specific locales and histories yet we find versions of the same ideas about race across countries and cultures How can we account for this paradox In The State of Race Sze Wei Ang argues that globalization has led to new ways of using racial stereotypes as shorthand for complex social relations in disparate national contexts Literature then provides a key to understanding these labels and the role that race has played in shoring up state power since World War II Ang contends that in an era marked by global economic dependence the nation state has only become more rather than less central to organizing social life via tropes of race that cast human and cultural differences in morally charged terms Focusing on a series of Asian American and Malaysian texts Ang tracks the significance of two figures in particular the model minority and the communist spy Appearing in novels politics and popular culture these stereotypes anchor powerful narratives about race global capital and state sovereignty. In exploring the United States and Malaysia two countries that seem to not have much in common Ang reveals how they share very similar ways of conceptualizing race and sheds light on an emerging global story of value This book is an innovative and transnational study that demonstrates a rigorous and revelatory comprehension of Malaysian racial formation in a global context The literary readings and their framing as well as the incisive movement through key racial projects in Malaysia's postcolonial history are all exceptional Josephine Nock Hee Park author of Cold War Friendships Korea Vietnam and Asian American Literature
