

The Giver Study Questions

The Giver is a "utopian" novel; it presents a very futuristic vision of a possible human society. In the case of this novel, that society only exists in that it is a "utopia," a perfect society without people do not suffer from problems such as war and poverty. But as the story goes on, we come to understand all of the important things that have been sacrificed in the pursuit of creating this society. There are a lot of deep and complex issues raised in this novel, and I hope that these questions will help you understand and reflect on those issues.

Notes:

- The highlighted questions are the ones I chose and the ones I expected and/or interesting questions to reflect on and answer.
- The page numbers given to some questions may differ from other editions of the book.

Chapters 1-4

1. Describe the society that Jonas lives in. What is it different from our society? What is its government, and in what ways is it making improvements? How are people educated?
2. How would you describe the physical environment in which the people live? How is it similar to that of our environment?
3. Discuss the beliefs and values of the people of Jonas's community. What are their culture and customs like? What things are missing from their lives that are important to us?
4. What disturbing aspects of Jonas's society are revealed to him in this chapter? What negative effects might living in this kind of society have on people? Why do you think they don't question the way things are and how they come to be that way?
5. Describe Jonas. What is his personality like, and what do his values seem to be? What is the significance of his name? What is suggested by the meaning of his name? What signs are there that Jonas is special?
6. Why do you think the author chose to start telling the story from this point? How is it appropriate?

5. What about the custom of replacing a "lost" child when about Jonas's society?
