The Hunger Winter Occupied Holland 1941-1945:

The Hunger Winter Henri A. Van Der Zee, 1998-01-01 Germany invaded the Netherlands in the spring of 1940. Life in occupied Holland was hideous enough, but for the Dutch, the worst was yet to come. After the Western Allies lost the Battle of Arnhem in September 1944, the Dutch provinces north of the Rhine and Waal Rivers were in the hands of the Germans, and to the south, fighting raged for months. In the winter of 1944-45, just as other parts of Europe were being liberated, the Dutch seemed forsaken by the Allies who bypassed Holland on their drive to Berlin. That last winter of the war, with its severe food and fuel shortages, was a terrible one for the Dutch people who also suffered from episodes of Nazi terrorism. In some provinces, there was nothing to eat but tulip bulbs and sugar beets, and eighteen thousand Dutch civilians actually starved to death. Henri van der Zee, who was ten years old that winter, remembers what happened to his people. The Hunger

Winter Henri van der Zee, 1982 The Hunger Winter Ingrid de Zwart, 2020-07-23 In this pioneering study, Ingrid de Zwart examines the causes and demographic impact of the Dutch Hunger Winter that occurred in the Netherlands during the final months of German occupation in the Second World War. She offers a comprehensive and multifaceted view of the socio-political context in which the famine emerged and considers how the famine was confronted at different societal levels, including the responses by Dutch, German, and Allied state institutions, affected households, and local communities. Contrary to highly politicized assumptions, she argues that the famine resulted from a culmination of multiple transportation and distribution difficulties. Although Allied relief was postponed for many crucial months and official rations fell far below subsistence level, successful community efforts to fight the famine conditions emerged throughout the country. She also explains why German authorities found reasons to cooperate and allow relief for the starving Dutch. With these explorations, The Hunger Winter offers a radically new understanding of the Dutch famine and provides a valuable insight into the strategies and coping mechanisms of a modern society facing catastrophe. and Its Workers in Europe's Modern Era, 1880-2023 David Welsh, 2025-06-26 This thematically arranged book examines the evolution of rail transport and a number of railway workforces across Europe in the modern era from around 1880 to 2023 Each chapter explores how within the context of a social railway rail workers developed distinct national and international perspectives on the nature of their work and their roles in societies and states David Welsh convincingly argues that workers formed a raft of entirely new and enduring organisations such as trade unions that in turn became ramparts of hope Welsh goes on to consider how the insurgent character of these organisations produced moments of fury during tumultuous periods in the 20th century The Social Railway and its Workers in Europe's Modern Era 1880 2023 explores the national and European contexts in which both characteristics came to the fore including the ecology of fossil fuel technology coal and oil Above all it argues that social economic and political forces are not simply external scene shifting but integral to the history of railway systems The book examines the cultural construction of European railways through literature art and other forms of writing as well as recent oral history It also includes a detailed investigation of the role played by nationalisation and public ownership in Europe In the context of neoliberalism and globalization it proposes a 21st century programme for the social railway Crucified Island Kai Althoetmar, 2025-05-28 The crucified island How Texel sank in a sea of blood in April 1945 The tragic story of the Georgian legionnaires uprising against the Wehrmacht at the end of World War II Children during the Holocaust Patricia Heberer, 2011-05-31 Children during the Holocaust from the United States Holocaust

Memorial Museum's Center for Advanced Holocaust Studies tells the story of the Holocaust through the eyes and fates of its youngest victims. The ten chapters follow the arc of the persecutory policies of the Nazis and their sympathizers and the impact these measures had on Jewish children and adolescents from the years leading to the war to the roundups, deportations and emigrations to hidden life and death in the ghettos and concentration camps and to liberation and coping in the wake of war. This volume examines the reactions of children to discrimination, the loss of livelihood in Jewish homes and the public humiliation at the hands of fellow citizens and explores the ways in which children's experiences paralleled and diverged from their adult counterparts. Additional chapters reflect upon the role of non-Jewish children as victims, perpetrators and bystanders during World War II. Offering a collection of personal letters, diaries, court testimonies, government documents, military reports, speeches, newspapers, photographs and artwork, Children during the Holocaust highlights the diversity of children's experiences during the nightmare years of the Holocaust. Conditions of Violence Christian Gerlach, 2024-11-04. Mass violence comes not only from states but also from people. By analyzing mass violence as social interaction through survivor accounts and other sources, this book presents understudied agents, aims and practices of direct violence and ways of action of those under persecution. Sound history examining the noises of mass violence and persecution is particularly telling about such practices. This volume shows that violence can become socially hegemonic and some people claim a freedom to kill as a political right. To scrutinize indirect violence, which is often imperialist in character and claims many victims, the book proposes the concept of conditions of violence. These conditions are produced by definable groups of actors and foreseeably harm definable groups, which differs from the anonymous and static structural violence. This is exemplified in a case study concerning famines in World War II and another on COVID-19 as mass violence. Less global in character, other case studies in this volume deal with Rwanda, Bangladesh, East Pakistan and the Soviet Union. Scientific Research in World War II Ad Maas, Hans Hooijmaijers, 2009-01-13. Scientific Research in World War II seeks to explore how scientists managed to cope with the particular circumstances created by the war. The book focuses on both war-waging countries such as the United Kingdom, Japan, Germany and the United States and those under occupation such as the Netherlands and France. A Brief History of the Netherlands, Second Edition Paul Sluiter, 2021-05-01.
