Dialogic: Education for the Internet Age Rupert Wegerif,2013-01-04 Dialogic Education for the Internet Age argues that despite rapid advances in communications technology most teaching still relies on traditional approaches to education built upon the logic of print and dependent on the notion that there is a single true representation of reality In practice the use of the Internet disrupts this traditional logic of education by offering an experience of knowledge as participatory and multiple This new logic of education is dialogic and characterises education as learning to learn think and thrive in the context of working with multiple perspectives and ultimate uncertainty The book builds upon the simple contrast between observing dialogue from an outside point of view and participating in a dialogue from the inside before pinpointing an essential feature of dialogic the gap or difference between voices in dialogue which is understood as an irreducible source of meaning Each chapter of the book applies this dialogic thinking to a specific challenge facing education re thinking the challenge and revealing a new theory of education Areas covered in the book include dialogical learning and cognition dialogical learning and emotional intelligence educational technology dialogic spaces and consciousness global dialogue and global citizenship dialogic theories of science and maths education The challenge identified in Wegerif s text is the growing need to develop a new understanding of education that holds the potential to transform educational policy and pedagogy in order to meet the realities of the digital age Dialogic Education for the Internet Age draws upon the latest research in dialogic theory creativity and technology and is essential reading for advanced students and researchers in educational psychology technology and policy     Resources in Education ,1997     The Christian Union Henry Ward Beecher,1881

Maximizing the returns on investment, volume II Catherine Jordan, Andrea Faber Taylor, Nancy M. Wells, Ming Kuo, Ulrich Dettweiler, 2023-11-06 Growing Readers Kathy Collins, 2023-10-10 Primary grade teachers face an important challenge teaching children how to read while enabling them to build good habits so they fall in love with reading Many teachers find the independent reading workshop to be the component of reading instruction that meets this challenge because it makes it possible to teach the reading skills and strategies children need and guides them toward independence intention and joy as readers In Growing Readers Kathy Collins helps teachers plan for independent reading workshops in their own classrooms She describes the structure of the independent reading workshop and other components of a balanced literacy program that work together to ensure young students grow into strong well rounded readers Kathy outlines a sequence of possible units of study for a yearlong curriculum Chapters are devoted to the individual units of study and include a sample curriculum as well as examples of mini lessons and reading conferences There are also four Getting Ready sections that suggest some behind the scenes work teachers can do to prepare for the units Topics explored in these units include print and comprehension strategies reading in genres such as poetry and nonfiction connecting in school reading and out of school reading developing the strategies and habits of lifelong readers A series of planning sheets and management tips are presented throughout to help ensure smooth implementation We want our students to learn to read and we want them to love to read To do this we need to lay a foundation on which children build rich and purposeful reading lives that extend beyond the school day The ideas found in Growing Readers create the kind of primary classrooms where that happens
