Computer Paul Atkinson, 2010-08-15 The pixelated rectangle we spend most of our day staring at in silence is not the television as many long feared but the computer the ubiquitous portal of work and personal lives At this point the computer is almost so common we don t notice it in our view It s difficult to envision that not that long ago it was a gigantic room sized structure only to be accessed by a few inspiring as much awe and respect as fear and mystery Now that the machine has decreased in size and increased in popular use the computer has become a prosaic appliance little more noted than a toaster These dramatic changes from the daunting to the ordinary are captured in Computer by design historian Paul Atkinson Here Atkinson chronicles the changes in physical design of the computer and shows how these changes in design are related to changes in popular attitude Atkinson is fascinated by how the computer has been represented and promoted in advertising For example in contrast to ads from the 1970s and 80s today s PC is very PC genderless and largely status free Computer also considers the role of the computer as a cultural touchstone as evidenced by its regular appearance in popular culture including the iconography of the space age HAL from 2001 A Space Odyssey James Bond s gadgetry and Stars War and Star Trek Computer covers many issues ignored by other histories of computing which have focused on technology and the economics involved in their production but rarely on the role of fashion in the physical design and promotion of computers and their general reception The book will appeal to professionals and students of design and technology as well as those interested in the history of computers and how they have shaped and been shaped by our lives      Computer Concepts Illustrated Introductory (Book Only) Dan Oja, June Jamrich Parsons, 2008-03-27 This edition does not include Companion CD Computer Concepts Illustrated Introductory Seventh Edition Enhanced but it can be purchased separately using ISBN 1111529744
