Handbook on the Neuropsychology of Aging and Dementia Lisa D. Ravdin, Heather L. Katzen, 2012-09-14 With the aging of the baby boomers and medical advances that promote longevity older adults are rapidly becoming the fastest growing segment of the population As the population ages so does the incidence of age related disorders Many predict that 15% 20% of the baby boomer generation will develop some form of cognitive decline over the course of their lifetime with estimates escalating to up to 50% in those achieving advanced age Although much attention has been directed at Alzheimer s disease the most common form of dementia it is estimated that nearly one third of those cases of cognitive decline result from other neuropathological mechanisms In fact many patients diagnosed with Alzheimer s disease likely have co morbid disorders that can also influence cognition i e vascular cognitive impairment suggesting mixed dementias are grossly under diagnosed The Clinical Handbook on the Neuropsychology of Aging and Dementia is a unique work that provides clinicians with expert guidance and a hands on approach to neuropsychological practice with older adults The book will be divided into two sections the first addressing special considerations for the evaluation of older adults and the second half focusing on common referral questions likely to be encountered when working with this age group The authors of the chapters are experts and are recognized by their peers as opinion leaders in their chosen chapter topics The field of neuropsychology has played a critical role in developing methods for early identification of late life cognitive disorders as well as the differential diagnosis of dementia Neuropsychological assessment provides valuable clinical information regarding the nature and severity of cognitive symptoms associated with dementia Each chapter will reinforce the notion that neuropsychological measures provide the clinician with sensitive tools to differentiate normal age related cognitive decline from disease associated impairment aid in differential diagnosis of cognitive dysfunction in older adults as well as identify cognitive deficits most likely to translate into functional impairments in everyday life

Childhood Head Injury Maureen Dennis, Harvey S. Levin, 2016-03-23 Childhood head injuries differ from adult head injuries in some significant respects They occur against a background of ongoing physical and cognitive development Cognitive capacities often change with time post injury But for children changes are affected by two processes of functional plasticity one concerned with recovery one with development The impact of the injury is moderated by age developmental stage In recent years there has been a new focus on the longitudinal comparison of children post injury with appropriate control groups Advances in neuropsychological assessment have permitted evaluation with reference to more developmentally suitable norms expanded definitions of outcome have broadened our understanding of consequences and neuroimaging techniques have enabled the more precise delineation of injury severity the study of structure function outcome relations and the investigation of reorganization of function This special issue offers an overview of cutting edge approaches to the analysis of childhood head injury

Assessing Adolescent and Adult Intelligence Alan S. Kaufman, Elizabeth O. Lichtenberger, 2005-08-05 The classic text now updated with a new interpretive approach to the WAIS III Assessing Adolescent and Adult Intelligence the classic text from Alan Kaufman and Elizabeth Lichtenberger has consistently provided the most comprehensive source of information on cognitive assessment of adults and adolescents The newly updated Third Edition provides important enhancements and additions that highlight the latest research and interpretive methods for the WAIS III Augmenting the traditional sequential and simultaneous WAIS III interpretive methods the authors present a new approach derived from Cattell Horn Carroll CHC theory This approach combines normative assessment performance relative to age peers with ipsative assessment performance relative to the person's own mean level Following Flanagan and Kaufman's work to develop a similar CHC approach for the WISC IV Kaufman and Lichtenberger have applied this system to the WAIS III profile of scores along with integrating recent WAIS III literature Four appendices present the new method in depth In addition to a detailed description the authors provide a blank interpretive worksheet to help examiners make the calculations and decisions needed for applying the additional steps of the new system and norms tables for the new WAIS III subtest combinations added in this approach Assessing Adolescent and Adult Intelligence remains the premier resource for the field covering not only the WAIS III but also the WJ III the KAIT and several brief measures of intelligence as well as laying out a relevant up to date discussion of the discipline The new theory based interpretive approach for the WAIS III makes this a vital resource for practicing psychologists as well as a comprehensive text for graduate students
