International Enterprise Education Jason Turner, Gary Mulholland, 2018-01-31 The important debate on the growing graduate skills gaps, the value of universities to their business communities and their role or lack of in building entrepreneurial attributes among graduates is growing internationally. Using case studies from universities across the globe, this edited book seeks to bring together leading authors with knowledge and/or experience of the challenges of embedding enterprise education in university and college programmes. The text identifies and presents the current debates around the future role of universities and colleges in providing fit for workplace graduates as well as offering insights into the challenges and practices involved in delivering innovative enterprise education. The approach collates examples of best practices from global institutions enabling educators to develop blueprints for implementing in their own institutions. This innovative and comprehensive text is designed to be a seminal resource for academic stakeholders on enterprise education, collating diverse international contributions from enterprising universities and colleges. Drawing on both theory and best practice, it provides invaluable guidance to researchers, educators and practitioners considering embedding or expanding enterprising activities into their learning strategy.

Cultures of Work, the Neoliberal Environment and Music in Higher Education Sally Macarthur, Julja Szuster, Paul Watt, 2024-03-29 This edited book considers the impact of neoliberalism on music teaching research and scholarship in a higher education context. As a subject that bears little resemblance to other university practical disciplines and fares poorly in a model driven by economics, the book considers whether musicology is a public good or a threatened species. It contemplates what musicology can usefully contribute to a paradigm driven by economics and questions whether it is ever possible to recover an ideal civil subject in neoliberal music academia. Contributions investigate what it means to build music research capacity in innovative ways such as forging cross-cultural relationships, subverting conventional notions of quality and value, replacing them with knowledges and values that guide Indigenous intellectual traditions, and whether interventions into the legacy of colonialism are truly ever possible in neoliberal higher education institutions that celebrate difference and diversity while reinforcing social inequities. The book also explores the relationships between gender and music, music research training and scholarship, and whether the interdisciplinarity championed by the university is ever workable. Finally, it undertakes a cross-disciplinary, new materialist reading of a canonical musical work, offering a radically new perspective. The book will appeal to students and scholars of music education, musicology, higher education studies and the creative arts more broadly.
