Watson, 2020-01-09 The Author's Effects On the Writer's House Museum is the first State book to describe how the writer s house museum came into being as a widespread cultural phenomenon across Britain Europe and North America Exploring the ways that authorship has been mythologised through the conventions of the writer s house museum The Author's Effects anatomises the how and why of the emergence establishment and endurance of popular notions of authorship in relation to creativity It traces how and why the writer s bodily remains possessions and spaces came to be treasured in the late eighteenth and nineteenth centuries as a prelude to the appearance of formal writer s house museums It ransacks more than 100 museums and archives to tell the stories of celebrated and paradigmatic relics Burns skull Keats hair Petrarch s cat Poe s raven Bront s bonnet Dickinson s dress Shakespeare s chair Austen s desk Woolf s spectacles Hawthorne's window Freud's mirror Johnson's coffee pot and Bulgakov's stove amongst many others It investigates houses within which nineteenth century writers mythologised themselves and their work Thoreau s cabin and Dumas tower Scott's Abbotsford and Irving's Sunnyside And it tracks literary tourists of the past to such long celebrated literary homes as Petrarch's Argu Rousseau's Ile St Pierre and Shakespeare's Stratford to find out what they thought and felt and did discovering deep continuities with the redevelopment of Shakespeare's New Place for 2016 The Taste of Salt Martha Southgate, 2011-09-13 Award winning novelist Martha Southgate who in the words of Julia Glass can write fat and hot then lush and tender then just plain truthful and burning with heart now tells the story of a family pushed to its limits by addiction over the course of two generations Josie Henderson loves the water and is fulfilled by her position as the only senior level black scientist at the Woods Hole Oceanographic Institute In building this impressive life for herself she has tried to shed the one thing she cannot her family back in landlocked Cleveland Her adored brother Tick was her childhood ally as they watched their drinking father push away all the love that his wife and children were trying to give him Now Tick himself has been coming apart and demands to be heard Weaving four voices into a beautiful tapestry Southgate charts the lives of the Hendersons from the parents first charmed meeting to Josie's realization that the ways of the human heart are more complex than anything seen under a microscope Material Cultures in Canada Thomas Allen, Jennifer Blair, 2015-06-18 Material Cultures in Canada presents the vibrant and diverse field of material culture studies in Canadian literary artistic and political contexts today The first of its kind this collection features sixteen essays by leading scholars in Canada each of whom examines a different object of study including the beaver geraniums comics water a musical playlist and the human body The book s three sections focus in turn on objects that are persistently material on things whose materiality blends into the immaterial and on the materials of spaces Contributors highlight some of the most exciting new developments in the field such as the emergence of new materialism affect theory globalization studies and environmental criticism Although the book has a Canadian centre the majority of its contributors consider objects that cross borders or otherwise resist national affiliation This collection will be valuable to readers within and outside of Canada who are interested in material culture studies and in addition will appeal to anyone interested in the central debates taking place in Canadian political and cultural life today such as climate change citizenship shifts in urban and small town life and the persistence of imperialism Exlev Brock Clarke, 2011-09-01 The literary equivalent of a half court shot Extraordinary NPR For young Miller Le Ray life has become a search A search for his dad who may or may not have joined the army and gone to Iraq A search for a notorious and unfortunately deceased writer Frederick Exley author of the fictional memoir A Fan's Notes who may hold the key to bringing Miller's father back But most of all his is a search for truth As Miller says Sometimes you have to tell the truth about some of the stuff you ve done so that people will believe you when you tell them the truth about other stuff you haven t done In Exley as in his previous bestselling novel An Arsonist's Guide to Writers Homes in New England Brock Clarke takes his reader into a world that is both familiar and disorienting thought provoking and thoroughly entertaining Told by Miller and Dr Pahnee both unreliable narrators it becomes an exploration of the difference between what we believe to be real and what Where is American Literature? Caroline F. Levander, 2013-04-16 Where is American Literature offers a spirited and compelling argument for rethinking the way we view American literature in relation to the nation while powerfully demonstrating why it continues to matter in a global age A refreshing and accessible investigation into the various locations linguistic geographical virtual ideological where American writing is produced and consumed Takes a highly original approach by viewing US literature spatially rather than chronologically or thematically retuning our understanding of the subject The book offers a vital intervention in current debates over the impact of digital technologies on the production and reception of literature ensuring that the field remains lively and dynamic Invites readers to reconsider the subject by questioning current perspectives on and approaches to US literature offering a range of fresh perspectives on familiar texts and topics Dwelling in the Text Marilyn R. Chandler, 2023-11-15 What is a house And what can architecture tell us about individual psychology national character and aspiration The house holds a central place in American mythology as Marilyn Chandler demonstrates in a series of house tours through American novels beginning with Thoreau s Walden and ending with Toni Morrison's Beloved and Marilynne Robinson's Housekeeping Chandler illuminates the complex analogies between house and psyche house and family house and social environment and house and text She traces a historical path from settlement to unsettledness in American culture and explores all the rituals in between of building decorating inhabiting and abandoning houses She notes the ambivalence between our desire for rootedness and our romanticization of wide open spaces relating these poles to the tension between materialism and spirituality in our national character At a time when housing has become a problem of unprecedented dimensions in America this look at the place of houses and homes in the American imagination reveals some sources of the attitudes assumptions and expectations that underlie the designing and building of the homes we buy sell and dream about This title is part of UC Press s Voices Revived program which commemorates University of California Press s mission to seek out and cultivate the brightest minds and give them voice reach and impact Drawing on a backlist dating to 1893 Voices Revived makes high quality peer reviewed scholarship accessible once again using print on demand technology This title was originally published in 1991 Musings: Blogs and Tweets Lynn M. Weise, 2010-02-10 Eugenics body horror eros and medical ethics collide is this ambitious provocative and wildly inventive dystopian satire Publishers Weekly Anne Hatley is a sharp witted and acerbic young teacher in need of a reprieve from the drudgery of work and a tedious relationship She accepts an invitation to the nation's largest research colony where DNA pioneer James D Watson hopes to cure Anne of a rare gene that affects her bone growth She is missing a leg and walks with a prosthesis Though getting along fine she's being pressured to pioneer an experimental procedure and be the first patient to generate a new limb As Anne falls into a reluctant romance with a fellow colonist the rakish possessor of the suicide gene and consults a resurrected Charles Darwin and a dugong bred mermaid Anne must first come to terms with who she is before she ever dares to decide who she can become Part Wellsian dystopia part medical mystery part Hawthornian allegory and part reality show The Colony is a potent exploration of ethics in the Age of the Genome Chris Bachelder author of The Throwback Special It s also a hilarious deeply moving sexy scary novel about finding love finding a home finding family and all the other doomed experiments we conduct in the hope in making a better human Brock Clarke author of The Price of the More Musings Lynn M. Dixon, 2019-10-16 The book has a host of articles written from observations of everyday Haircut life book and movie reviews and poems A Skeptic's Guide to Writers' Houses Anne Trubek, 2011-07-11 There are many ways to show our devotion to an author besides reading his or her works Graves make for popular pilgrimage sites but far more popular are writers house museums What is it we hope to accomplish by trekking to the home of a dead author We may go in search of the point of inspiration eager to stand on the very spot where our favorite literary characters first came to life and find ourselves instead in the house where the author himself was conceived or where she drew her last breath Perhaps it is a place through which our writer passed only briefly or maybe it really was a longtime home now thoroughly remade as a decorator's show house In A Skeptic's Guide to Writers Houses Anne Trubek takes a vexed often funny and always thoughtful tour of a goodly number of house museums across the nation In Key West she visits the shamelessly ersatz shrine to a hard living Ernest Hemingway while meditating on his lost Cuban farm and the sterile Idaho house in which he committed suicide In Hannibal Missouri she walks the fuzzy line between fact and fiction as she visits the home of the young Samuel Clemens and the purported haunts of Tom Sawyer Becky Thatcher and Injun Joe She hits literary pay dirt in Concord Massachusetts the nineteenth century mecca that gave home to Hawthorne Emerson and Thoreau and yet could not accommodate a surprisingly complex Louisa May Alcott She takes us along the trail of residences that Edgar Allan Poe left behind in the wake of his many failures and to the burned out shell of a California house with which Jack London staked his claim on posterity In Dayton Ohio a charismatic guide brings Paul Laurence Dunbar to compelling life for those few visitors willing to listen in Cleveland Trubek finds a moving remembrance of Charles Chesnutt in a house that no longer stands Why is it that we visit writers houses Although admittedly skeptical about the stories these buildings tell us about their former inhabitants Anne Trubek carries us along as she falls at least a little bit in love with each stop on her itinerary and finds in each some truth about literature history and contemporary America Who Are You, Calvin Bledsoe? Brock Clarke, 2019-08-27 This exuberant comic novel involving explosions secret agents religious fanatics and a hapless narrator dragged around Europe by his long lost aunt is also a sly theological exploration of fate and predestination The New York Times Book Review Calvin Bledsoe has never grown up His mother an internationally known theologian was the dominant force in his life so much so that he never left home even when he married Now she is gone and at her funeral Calvin meets an aunt he never knew existed who immediately takes charge of his life and whisks him off to Europe for a grand adventure As Calvin and his aunt traverse the continent it becomes apparent that her clandestine behavior is leading him into danger Facing a menagerie of antiquities thieves secret agents and religious fanatics as well as an ex wife who is stalking him Calvin begins to suspect there might be some meaning behind the madness Is he the person he thought he was Is anyone ever who they appear to be But there s little time for soul searching as Calvin first has to figure out why he has been kidnapped why his aunt has disappeared and who the hell burned down his house in Maine Multiple Narratives, Versions and Truth in the Contemporary Novel Nicholas Frangipane, 2019-10-22 Multiple Narratives Versions and Truth in the Contemporary Novel considers the shifting perception of truth in fiction Nicholas Frangipane examines the narrative technique of telling multiple versions of the same sets of events presenting both true and false versions of the events within a fictional work This book looks closely at these Reflexive Double Narratives in order to understand the way many contemporary writers have attempted to work past postmodernism without forgetting its lessons Frangipane explores how writers like Ian McEwan Yann Martel and Alice Munro have departed from the radical experimentation of their predecessors and instead make sincere attempts to find ways that fictional writing can reveal enduring truths and in so doing redefine the meaning of truth itself and signal the emergence of post postmodernism
