Planning Clinical Research Robert A. Parker, Nancy G. Berman, 2016-10-12 Planning a clinical study is much more than determining the basic study design. Who will you be studying? How do you plan to recruit your study subjects? How do you plan to retain them in the study? What data do you plan to collect? How will you obtain this data? How will you minimize bias? All these decisions must be consistent with the ethical considerations of studying people. This book teaches how to choose the best design for your question. Drawing on their many years working in clinical research, Nancy G Berman and Robert A Parker guide readers through the essential elements of study planning to help get them started. The authors offer numerous examples to illustrate the key decisions needed describing what works, what does not work and why. Written specifically for junior investigators beginning their research.

careers this guide will also be useful to senior investigators needing to review specific topics
