Korean Pop Music, 2021-11-15. Korean popular music has in the last decade become a significant model for youth culture throughout Asia. Yet although the Korean music industry is both vibrant and massive, this is the first book-length work devoted to the subject to appear in English. The book offers a comprehensive account written by thirteen scholars of Korean Studies, ethnomusicology and popular culture, charting Korean pop from the 1930s to the present day, from genres imitative of early twentieth-century European and Japanese styles (trot and yuhaengga) to contemporary punk, clubs, rap, bands and music television shows. Consideration is given to South Korean singers who catered for US troops in the aftermath of the Korean War, to acoustic guitar songs and their use in the 1970s student protest movements against military dictatorship, to state propaganda pop and to the explosion of global styles that marked the 1990s. Lyrics and dance, media packaging and stage costumes, song rooms and singing doctors, highway songs and new folksongs as well as the impact of the Internet are all explored. The book also includes extensive discussion of North Korean popular music and chapters on the Korean wave that swept Taiwan and the Chinese mainland at the start of the new millennium. Making Meaning in Popular Song, Theodore Gracyk, 2022-06-16. Winner ASA American Society for Aesthetics 2023 Outstanding Monograph Prize. For Theodore Gracyk, meaning in popular music depends as much on the context of reception and performer's intentions as on established musical and semantic practices. Songs are structures that serve as the scaffolding for meaning production, influenced by the performance decisions of the performer and their intentions. Arguing against prevailing theories of meaning that ignore the power of the performance, Gracyk champions the contextual relevance of the performer as well as novel messaging through creative repurposing of recordings. Extending the philosophical insight that meaning is a function of use, Gracyk explains how both the performance persona and the personal life of a song's performer can contribute to or undercut ethical and political aspects of a performance or recording. Using Carly Simon's 'You're So Vain', Pink Floyd, the emergence of the musical genre of post-punk and the practice of cover versions, Gracyk explores the multiple, sometimes contradictory notions of authenticity applied to popular music and the conditions for meaningful communication. He places popular music within larger cultural contexts and examines how assigning a performance or recording to one music genre rather than another has implications for what it communicates. Informed by a mix of philosophy of art and philosophy of language, Gracyk's entertaining study of popular music constructs a theoretical basis for a philosophy of meaning for songs. Intercultural Communication and Creative Practice, Laura Lengel, 2004-09-30. Lengel takes the reader on a journey from India and Romania, where women preserve cultural rituals through mourning songs, to South Africa, where the body is a site of struggle for meaning and power in contemporary dance. This volume examines the interrelationship of cultural and national identity, ethnicity, gender performance and lived experience It offers an understanding of how music and dance function within the lives of its performers and audiences and how they embody meaning carry social value and act as a vehicle for intercultural communication This book analyzes the communicative impact of women s cultural products and creative practice and creates links across disciplines such as communication cultural studies and performance studies Contributors have lived researched and performed in the United States Australia Belize Barbados Canada China England India the Pacific Romania and Yemen Their chapters address women s creative performance as a means of political and ideological expression
