I believe that the E Symposium on Industrial and Systems Engineering (ISE) should promote an integrated learning environment for an interdisciplinary approach through its academic advisory programs that provide mathematics, statistics, and computer science as additional rather than engineering subjects. Mathematical concepts have been applied in previous research (Hyndy, 1999) where research groups have synthesized the engineering and technological changes in mathematics. I believe that ISE should have the opportunity to expand on the knowledge I was introduced to as a child. I am excited to be able present to that learning system as the E Symposium on Industrial and Systems Engineering through the integration of the academic knowledge and my personal/communitary values as shown in my interdisciplinary research.

On My Own Xueli Wang, 2021-02-18 2020 ASHE Council for the Advancement of Higher Education Programs CAHEP Barbara Townsend Lecture Award 2021 Transfer Champion Catalyst Award from the National Institute for the Study of Transfer Students NISTS 2021 Outstanding Publication Award AERA Division J Publication and Research On My Own The Challenge and Promise of Building Equitable STEM Transfer Pathways is the first book of its kind to provide a detailed on the ground examination of the difficult paths curricular interpersonal and institutional that students must chart through community college The book follows 1 670 two year college students over four years as they begin STEM programs in the Midwest and documents their educational and life experiences as they moved toward or away from the prospect of transfer to a four year institution Their stories reveal that they were on their own left to navigate the pathways to transfer without meaningful institutional support The students pursued one of four pathways or momentum trajectories linear upward detoured deferred or taking a break The preexisting and lasting disparities in their access to education and financial resources their experiences with teaching and advising and the conundrum between support from and for family among others propelled them onto different trajectories in their quest for transfer As this book makes painfully clear the current state of transfer acts as a mechanism that perpetuates and worsens inequities in educational outcomes As Xueli Wang argues to cultivate an equitable STEM transfer pathway culturally relevant and responsive supports that are accessible welcoming and validating must be put in place at the institutional level and appeal to the talent motivation and unique needs of historically marginalized students In doing so postsecondary institutions will be better positioned to fulfill their promise as an equitable pathway to bachelor's degrees and beyond

Syntax-Phonology Interface Hongming Zhang, 2016-11-25 This book centers on theoretical issues of phonology syntax interface based on tone sandhi in Chinese dialects It uses patterns in tone sandhi to study how speech should be divided into domains of various sizes or levels Tone sandhi refers to tonal changes that occur to a sequence of adjacent syllables or words The size of this sequence or the domain is determined by various factors in particular the syntactic structure of the words and the original tones of the words Chinese dialects offer a rich body of data on tone sandhi and hence great evidence for examining the phonology syntax interface and for examining the resulting levels of domains the prosodic hierarchy Syntax Phonology Interface Argumentation from Tone Sandhi in Chinese Dialects is an extremely valuable text for graduate students and scholars in the fields of linguistics and Chinese

Writing/Disciplinarity Paul Prior, 2013-11-05 Over the past century the explosive growth of scientific technical and cultural disciplines has profoundly affected our daily lives However processes of enculturation in sites such as graduate education that have helped to form these disciplines have received very limited research attention In those sites graduate students write diverse documents including course papers departmental examinations theses and dissertations grant and fellowship applications and disciplinary publications Thus writing is one of the central domains of enculturation an activity through which graduate students and professors display and negotiate disciplinary knowledge genres identities and institutional contexts This volume explores this intersection of writing and disciplinary enculturation through a series of ethnographic case studies These case studies provide the most thorough descriptions available today of the lived experience of graduate seminars combining analysis of classroom talk students texts and professor s written responses institutional contexts students representations of their writing and its contexts and professors representations of their tasks and their students Given the complexities that the ethnographic data displayed the author found that conventional notions of writing as a process of transcription and of disciplines as unified discourse communities were inadequate As such this book also offers an in depth exploration of sociohistoric theory in relation to writing and disciplinary enculturation Specific case studies introduce apply and further elaborate notions of writing as literate activity authorship as mediated by other people and artifacts classroom tasks as speech genres enculturation as the interplay of authoritative and internally persuasive discourses and disciplinarity as a deeply heterogeneous laminated and dialogic process This blend of research and theory should be of interest to scholars and students in such fields as writing studies rhetoric writing across the curriculum applied linguistics English for academic purposes science and technology studies higher education and the ethnography of communication

Legal Realism to Law in Action William Clune, 2021-12-16 This is a book of papers and interviews about innovative law school courses developed by faculty of the Wisconsin Law School from 1950 to 1970 that forged a path from legal realism to law and social science These courses took a law in action approach to the study of law which became a signature feature of the school's tradition from that time to the present day The Legal Realists of the 1920s and 30s taught that the law that mattered was the law in action as applied by ordinary officials and experienced by ordinary people But they mostly failed to get their program adopted as part of professional education alongside the study of appellate cases Only at Wisconsin thanks to a cluster of great scholar teachers in Willard Hurst Frank Remington Herman Goldstein Stewart Macaulay Bill Whitford and their collaborators has the Realist vision been fully and splendidly realized in law teaching This is the story of that thrilling experiment Robert W Gordon Professor of Law Emeritus Stanford University Chancellor Kent Professor Emeritus of Law and Legal History Yale Law School This book is a must read for anyone interested in the history of the law and society movement and the unique role that the University of Wisconsin Law School has played in that tradition In a series of essays by and interviews of current and former Wisconsin law teachers the creativity of Wisconsin's challenge to the traditional legal academy comes alive Lauren Edelman Agnes Roddy Robb Professor of Law and Professor of Sociology University of California Berkeley In a time when an increasing number of law schools characterize themselves as bastions of law in action this volume provides a bracing reminder of a more precise vision That vision was rooted in the legal realist tradition during an earlier golden age of sociolegal thought at the University of Wisconsin Law School In this important book we hear vivid accounts of the innovative law teaching during that time which took realist discoveries seriously in Contracts Legal Process Legal History and Criminal Law Elizabeth Mertz Research Professor American Bar Foundation John and Rylla Bosshard Professor Emerita UW Madison Law School      Wisconsin Natural Resources ,2013
