

STATE OF THE MEDIA: THE SOCIAL MEDIA REPORT

Q3 2011

SOCIAL MEDIA

's popularity continues to grow, connecting people with just about everything they watch and buy. Whether it's a brand icon inviting consumers to connect with a company on LinkedIn, a news ticker promoting an anchor's Twitter handle or an advertisement asking a consumer to "Like" a product on Facebook, people are constantly being driven to social media. The latest Nielsen insights provide some answers on exactly how powerful this influence is on consumer behavior, both online and off.

In the U.S., social networks and blogs reach nearly 80 percent of active U.S. Internet users and represent the majority of Americans' time online. The value of the time consumers spend online and on social networks and blogs continues to grow, most visible through the influence on purchase decisions. For instance, 60 percent of people who use three or more digital means of research for product purchases learned about a specific brand or retailer from a social networking site. Forty-eight percent of these consumers responded to a retailer's offer

KEY FINDINGS

- Social networks and blogs continue to dominate Americans' time online, now accounting for nearly a quarter of total time spent on the Internet.
- Social media has grown rapidly – today nearly 4 in 5 active Internet users visit social networks and blogs.
- Americans spend more time on Facebook than they do on any other U.S. website.
- Close to 40 percent of social media users access social media content from their mobile phone.
- Social networking apps are the third most-used among U.S. smartphone owners.
- Internet users over the age of 55 are driving the growth of social networking through the Mobile Internet.
- Although a larger number of women view online video on social networks and blogs, men are the heaviest online video users overall, streaming more videos and watching them longer.

Rewired Carl D. Marci, 2022-01-01 Living in an age of digital distraction has wreaked havoc on our brains but there is much we can do to restore our tech life balance We live in a world that is always on where everyone is always connected But we feel increasingly disconnected Why The answer lies in our brains Carl D Marci MD a leading expert on social and consumer neuroscience reviews the mounting evidence that overuse of smart phones and social media is rewiring our brains resulting in a losing deal we are neglecting the relationships that sustain us and keep us healthy in favor of weaker and more ephemeral ties The ability to connect and form strong social bonds is fundamental to human experience and emerged through unique structures in our brains But ever more powerful technologies and ubiquitous access to media have hijacked our need to connect intimately and emotionally with others The quick highs of clicking like and swiping right overstimulate the same neurological reward centers associated with social relationships The habits that accompany our digital lifestyles are putting tremendous pressure on critical components of the brain associated with attention emotion and memory changing how we process information and altering how we communicate and relate even at a physiological level As a psychiatrist working at the forefront of research on the impact of digital technology Marci has seen this transformation up close and developed a range of responses Rewired provides scientifically supported solutions for everyone who wants to restore their tech life balance from parents concerned about their children s exposure to the internet to stressed workers dealing with the deluge of emails and managing the expectation of 24 7 availability
