Caring and Killing Thomas Foth,2013 Under the Nazi regime in Germany a calculated killing of chronic mentally ill patients took place Nurses executed this program in their everyday practice However suspicions have been raised that psychiatric patients were also assassinated before and after the Nazi regime suggesting that the motives for these killings must be investigated within psychiatric practice itself This book highlights the mechanisms and scientific discourses in place that allowed nurses to perceive patients as unworthy of life This study analyzes patient records as inscriptions that actively intervene in interactions in institutions and that create a specific reality on their own accord The question is not whether the reality represented within the documents is true but rather how documents worked in institutions and what their effects were It is shown how nurses were actively involved in the construction of patients identities and how these documentary identities led to the death of thousands of humans Rent-a-Doc Jim Cleary MD FACEP,2014-04-17 David Neuman MD FACEP in significant financial and legal distress has no alternative but to accept a position in a hospital emergency department with a reputation for poor quality care Adding to his consternation he deems the community as a very undesirable place to live Considering the job beneath his training and qualifications he enters the role with an attitude With an aggressive chip on his shoulder and youthful inexperience he plunges headlong into a minefield rife with ethical and moral conflicts Abandoning the long engrained fundamental values of his youth he eventually loses his moral compass The struggle to right the ship regain his moral equilibrium proves quite problematic erratic unpredictable and ethereal Contractor Safety Management Gregory W. Smith,2013-12-14 A Winner of the Educational Award by the World Safety Organization Contractor safety management is often seen as nothing more than a subset of general safety management in that no special consideration needs to be given to understanding the difficulties of the contract environment This leaves contractors endlessly juggling competing and someti
