Integrated design and engineering T.M.E. Zaal, 2014-06-30 Organizations have to work continuously on the improvement of the quality of their products and services to secure future profit. They have also to develop and deliver timely new innovations and products. But the development of these new innovations and products is always both a challenging and a difficult process. Challenging because it enables us to exploit new ways, challenges and possibilities, and difficult because it requires choices to be made which exclude other challenges and possibilities. Each choice or possibility in the design process also means financial consequences or a specific cost price and so impacts upon future profitability. Well designed products promise profit whilst a poor design can even result in losses. So design as a profession is not only a challenging one but also a risky one. But no improvement means no future profits. Value creation will be the red line in this book. How to organize the right design process is the main topic. This will mean an integration of all stakeholders around the design and engineering processes of products and services. This process can deliver the right prospects for client satisfaction and value creation. Organizing the design processes of a design team around all the stakeholders is necessary and the quality of this team will be a main factor for success. Another important factor is to investigate and weight the right client needs, demands and wishes. And finally the effective utilization of information technology as a knowledge tool around design and engineering processes is also a key factor. What lessons will you learn after reading and in particular applying this book? What is involved in setting up a design and engineering process that is client oriented and value driven for your organization? How to organize an improvement of existing products and services with all the stakeholders? How to implement the role of information technology over the whole life cycle of a product including the reuse of proven knowledge? Exciting applications from the fields of designing products of building services and of asset management.

Producing Figurative Expression John Barnden, Andrew Gargett, 2020-12-15 This collection contains a selection of recent work on people's production of figurative language: metaphoric, ironic, metonymic, hyperbolic and similarly of figurative expression in visual media and artefact design. The articles illuminate issues such as why and under what circumstances people produce figurative expression and how it is moulded by their aims. By focusing on production the intention is to help stimulate more academic research on it and redress historically lower levels of published work on generation than on understanding of figurative expression. The contributions stretch across various academic disciplines: mainly psychology, cognitive linguistics and applied linguistics but with a representation also of philosophy and artificial intelligence and across different types of endeavour: theoretical investigation and model building, experimental studies and applications focussed work for instance figurative expression in product design and online support groups. There is also a wide ranging introductory chapter that touches on areas outside the scope of the contributed articles and discusses difficult issues such as a complex interplay of production and understanding.
