the largest carbon emitting industry is responsible for about 40% of China's emissions and it has great significance to response to global climate change. On the other hand the effectiveness of China's ETS will rest on how well it is coordinated with power market regulations and policies. In this regard the deepening of reform as well as the advanced technology and its applications in the electricity market will add new challenges and opportunities to electricity trade which in turn influences national ETS. Therefore this brings urgency to accurately capture the dynamic interactions between national ETS and electricity market to transform carbon trading into a practical and effective way to decarbonize the power sector.
