Subject as Aporia in Early Modern Art Alexander Nagel, 2017-07-05 The studies in this volume focus on works of art that generate bafflement and that make that difficulty of reading part of their rhetorical structure These are works whose subjects are not easily identifiable or can be readily associated with more than one subject at the same time works that take a subject into a new genre or format pagan into Christian for example or vice versa and thus destabilize the subject itself works that concentrate on the marginal rather than the central episode and works that introduce elements of the preparatory phase the indeterminacy that are native to the sketch or drawing for example into the realm of finished works Unable to settle on a single reading the effort of interpretation doubles back on its own procedures This aporia according to Aristotle serves as the initial impulse to philosophical inquiry Although the works studied here are in many ways exceptional the aporias they raise register larger structural problems belonging to the artistic culture as a whole Between 1400 and 1700 we see the emergence of new formats new genres new subjects and new techniques as well as new venues for the display of art It is an implicit thesis of this book that the systemic shifts occurring in the early modern period made the emergence of aporetic works of art and of aporia as a problem for art a structural inevitability

Classical Myths in Italian Renaissance Painting Luba Freedman, 2011-06-30 The book is about a new development in Italian Renaissance art its aim is to show how artists and humanists came together to effect this revolution it is important because this is a long ignored but crucial aspect of the Italian Renaissance showing us why the masterpieces we take for granted are the way they are and there is no competitor in the field The book sheds light on some of the world's greatest masterpieces of art including Botticelli's Venus Leonardo's Leda Raphael's Galatea and Titian's Bacchus and Ariadne Provided by publisher

A Tale Blazed Through Heaven Oliver James Noble Wood, 2014 A Tale Blazed Through Heaven examines developments in the representation of the classical tale of Mars Venus and Vulcan in the literature and painting of the Golden Age of Spain c 1526-1681 Anchored in close analysis of individual primary texts the five chapters that comprise this study assess how poets and painters breathed new life into the tale inherited from Homer Ovid and others examining some of the ways in which the story of Mars Venus and Vulcan was disguised developed expanded mocked combined with or played off against different subjects or otherwise modified in order to pique the interest of successive generations of readers and viewers Each chapter discusses what particular changes and shifts in emphasis reveal about the tale itself specific renderings the aims and intentions of individual poets and painters and the wider context of the literary and visual culture of Early Modern Spain Discussing a range of poems by both canonical Garcilaso de la Vega Luis de Gongora Lope de Vega etc and less well known writers Juan de la Cueva Alonso de Castillo Solorzano Salvador Jacinto Polo de Medina etc and culminating in detailed examination of select mythological works by Philip IV's court painter Diego Velazquez this book sheds light on questions relating to aspects of classical reception in the Renaissance the rise of specific poetic styles epic mock epic burlesque etc the interplay between the sister arts of poetry and painting and the continual process of imitation and invention that was one of the defining features of the Spanish Golden Age Spain in the nineteenth century Andrew Ginger, Geraldine Lawless, 2018-05-10 Confronted by a complex new society nineteenth century Spaniards wrestled with how to envisage their lives From trying to be universal through to acting as a cultural entrepreneur this volume explores the possibilities and uncertainties that unfolded in their reconfigured world A Class of Their Own Maren Polte, 2017-06-22 The pioneer group of the Düsseldorf School The Düsseldorf School has become a household name in the art world for one of the most successful and influential strains of modern photography Coined in the late 1980s the name refers mainly to the pioneer group of students of the late Bernd Becher who in 1976 became the first professor for creative photography at a German arts academy His students included Andreas Gursky Candida Höfer Axel Hütte Thomas Ruff and Thomas Struth all of them today internationally acclaimed artists in their own right Whereas Düsseldorf School initially was used as a handy term for a group of artists with the same university's background it quickly turned into a powerful brand name both in critical and commercial contexts Despite its welcomed impact on the art scene the members of the School felt rather ambiguous about their perception as a group which turned them into stars but simultaneously risked levelling individual profiles and differences What exactly connects and distinguishes them aesthetically is for the first time thoroughly explored in Maren Polte's pioneering study

Painting Flanders Abroad Abigail D. Newman, 2022-07-18 In Painting Flanders Abroad Flemish Art and Artists in Seventeenth Century Madrid Flemish immigrants and imported Flemish paintings cross the paths of Spanish kings collectors dealers and artists in the Spanish court city transforming the development and nature of seventeenth century Spanish painting Examining these Flemish transplants and the traces their interactions left in archival documents collection inventories art treatises and most saliently Spanish Golden Age paintings this book portrays Spanish society grappling with a long tradition of importing its favorite paintings while struggling to reimagine its own visual idiom In the process the book historicizes questions of style quality immigration mobility identity and cultural exchange to define what the evolving and amorphous visual concept of Flemishness meant to Spanish viewers in an era long before the emergence of nationalism
