Division of Research Grants, 1975 Assessment Practices with Indigenous Children, Youth, Families, and Communities Shaun Murphy, Trudy Cardinal, Janice Huber, Stefinee Pinnegar, 2023-04-03 Research on Teacher Stress Christopher J. McCarthy, Richard G. Lambert, 2023-03-01 This volume informs our understanding of how educational settings can respond to the challenges of the COVID 19 pandemic and beyond Teaching has always been a challenging profession but the pandemic has added unprecedented levels of demands Much of what we know about stress and trauma in education predates the COVID 19 pandemic As the pandemic recedes it seems likely that recruiting and retaining teachers always a challenge will become even more difficult This could not be worse for students who face steep losses in their academic and socio emotional progress after more than two years of pandemic impacted schooling The silver lining is that scholars who study the occupational health have spent the past several years studying the effect of the pandemic on teachers which led us to edit this volume to collected what is known and have these experts explain how we can better support teachers in the future This book documents the many impacts of the pandemic on the teaching profession but also leverages research to chart a path forward Part I examines the contours of stress with a particular emphasis on COVID 19 impacts These contributions range from parents achievement worries to compassion fatigue and more optimistically how teachers cope Part II examines pandemic impacts on pre school teachers in both the U S and in Australia Given the social distancing in place during the pandemic pre school students and their teachers were under unique demands as there is no substitute for the personal connection critical at that age It is likely that students entering elementary school in the next few years will have work to do in their social skills Part III focuses on mentoring and stress during the pandemic Mentoring is an important part of teacher s professional development but the pandemic scrambled traditional forms of mentoring as all teachers were thrown into unfamiliar online technology The final section of this book Part IV includes links between teacher stress and trauma during the pandemic Clearly with the ongoing nature of the pandemic it is easy to see how trauma is likely to manifest in years to come Readers of this book will better understand teacher demands as well as the resources teachers will need going forward Teachers made heroic efforts during the pandemic to help their students both academically and personally We owe to them to learn from research during the pandemic that points to the way to a healthier occupational future Interoception, Contemplative Practice, and Health Norman Farb, Catherine Kerr, Wolf E. Mehling, Olga Pollatos, 2017-02-07 There is an emergent movement of scientists and scholars working on somatic awareness interoception and embodiment This work cuts across studies of neurophysiology somatic anthropology contemplative practice and mind body medicine Key questions

include How is body awareness cultivated What role does interoception play for emotion and cognition in healthy adults and children as well as in different psychopathologies What are the neurophysiological effects of this cultivation in practices such as Yoga mindfulness meditation Tai Chi and other embodied contemplative practices What categories from other traditions might be useful as we explore embodiment Does the cultivation of body awareness within contemplative practice offer a tool for coping with suffering from conditions such as pain addiction and dysregulated emotion This emergent field of research into somatic awareness and associated interoceptive processes however faces many obstacles The principle obstacle lies in our 400 year Cartesian tradition that views sensory perception as epiphenomenal to cognition The segregation of perception and cognition has enabled a broad program of cognitive science research but may have also prevented researchers from developing paradigms for understanding how interoceptive awareness of sensations from inside the body influences cognition The cognitive representation of interoceptive signals may play an active role in facilitating therapeutic transformation e g by altering context in which cognitive appraisals of well being occur This topic has ramifications into disparate research fields What is the role of interoceptive awareness in conscious presence How do we distinguish between adaptive and maladaptive somatic awareness How do we best measure somatic awareness What are the consequences of dysregulated somatic interoceptive awareness on cognition emotion and behavior The complexity of these questions calls for the creative integration of perspectives and findings from related but often disparate research areas including clinical research neuroscience cognitive psychology anthropology religious contemplative studies and philosophy

Culture and Emotion in Educational Dynamics, volume II Enrique H. Riquelme,Dario Paez,Silvia Cristina da Costa Dutra,2025-03-07 This Research Topic is the second volume of Research Topic Culture and Emotion in Educational Dynamics Please see the first volume here Culture plays a significant role in regulating emotions and influencing the dissemination of education particularly within diverse geographic locations However the impact of culture on emotional dynamics within educational settings is not well understood This is particularly important within contexts of social and cultural diversity where schools must navigate cultural and majority emotional dynamics The aim of this research topic is to provide a comprehensive overview of the current state of the art in the field of emotional dynamics in education with a particular focus on the ways in which culture mediates these dynamics The topic will also explore the problems and solutions deployed within educational contexts of cultural diversity with a specific emphasis on school family and community interaction This research topic seeks to integrate experiences and contributions from diverse regions of the world to provide a comprehensive understanding of the role of culture in regulating emotions in educational dynamics The ultimate goal is to promote culturally responsive practices and policies that foster emotional well being and academic success for all learners Analytics and

Intuition in the Process of Selecting Talent Jürgen Deters, 2022-11-07 Human decisions especially in management and personnel selection are based on making judgments about people analytically and intuitively Yet in business and scientific contexts judgments are expected to be based on a rational analysis rather than intuitions or emotions Intuition is often seen as something mystical that should not be trusted and thus eliminated from human decision making Our empirical and theoretical research shows that this is impossible when people are dealing with people Instead intuitions and emotions have significant power in the decision making process Neuroscience even shows that humans are incapable of switching off their emotions or intuitions when making decisions Therefore intuition and emotions as evolutionary achievements of human beings should be looked at more closely to use the wisdom they offer This book provides an insight into the current state of research on rational analytical procedures in personnel selection and complements this with research on intuitions and emotions in personnel diagnostics By integrating scientifically verifiable rational analytical decision making procedures with the inner experiential knowledge of people this book bridges two complementary ways of recognizing and making good decisions It demonstrates how intuitions are developed and used in different fields of practice and cultures and how scientific research results from rational analytical and intuitive emotional selection procedures are successfully integrated by practitioners
