Bandara,Saman Kelegama,2012-05-23 The link between trade liberalisation and poverty has arguably been one of the most debated topics in development policy debate Existing studies on the subject have primarily used multi country cross sectional data and there is a growing concern about the limitations of this approach in providing a sound empirical basis for informing the policy debate These limitations point to the need for undertaking in depth analyses within individual countries over time In order to examine the connection between trade liberalisation and poverty this book provides case studies of trade policy reforms and poverty reduction outcomes of seven countries in South Asia Bangladesh Bhutan India Maldives Nepal Pakistan and Sri Lanka The South Asia region allows for an excellent comparative study given the widespread emphasis on liberalisation reforms in the region over the past two decades as well as highlighting significant inter country differences in terms of the timing and comprehensiveness of reforms and the heavy concentration of world poverty in the region This book is a useful contribution to studies on South Asia as well as International Trade and Development Economics India's Waters Mahesh Chandra Chaturvedi, 2011-12-20 Regulation of India's rivers and other water systems has been evolving for thousands of years in the face of varying socioeconomic and technological conditions. India's Waters: Environment, Economy and Development is a study of the current state of development and proposed future development policies of the government of India, which is the developmental agency. The author first addresses India's physical and hydrological environment. He explains how the government, using his research, has estimated its usable resources and water requirements for life, environment and economy for the next half century. The book describes how, based on its own assessment, the government has made detailed suggestions about developing India's water resources. After covering the overall national study and analysis, the author addresses the current development of the major river basins: the Indus and Ganges, Brahmaputra, Meghna, GBM basins, as well as the Central Peninsular and others. He follows with analysis of watershed, groundwater and command area development. Inter-basin water transfer has been considered throughout India's long history. This book briefly details suggestions for interlinking India's rivers and concludes by presenting legal framework and institutional issues. This is the first of Dr. M. C. Chaturvedi's three studies on the waters of India. The second, India's Waters: Advances in Development and Management, presents his proposals for revolutionizing their development, and the third focuses on development of the GBM basin, which is now an international river system. These studies are a unique contribution to the science and art of water resource development from a highly respected expert. He has designed most of the major projects in the Ganga basin and continues to teach and conduct research at the international level.

Inter-sectoral Water Allocation, Planning, and Management, 1999 Fundamental changes must take place in how water is allocated, planned and managed if India's goals for continued economic growth and improved social and environmental conditions are to be met. India's needs are especially severe due to its rapidly developing water constraints, environmental problems, huge population, regional inequalities in water availability along with the federal administrative structure and rapid demographic and economic growth. The findings of Inter-Sectoral Water Allocation, Planning and Management are that a comprehensive approach is needed in order to implement change. The book provides detailed recommendations in the areas of policy making, legislation and regulations, institutions, economic incentives, technology and public information.

Initiating and Sustaining Water Sector Reforms, 1999 Water is becoming an increasingly scarce resource in India. India faces an increasingly urgent situation with its finite and fragile water resources being stressed and depleted while various sectoral demands are growing rapidly. Initiating and Sustaining Water Sector Reforms offers detailed solutions to this complex and important concern.
