Assessment of

Marital Discord (Psychology Revivals) K. Daniel O'Leary, 2013-12-19 Originally published in 1987 this book was designed to present the most recent research data on assessment of various aspects of marriage. Noted authorities on specific assessment areas provide information on conceptual and practical issues in marital assessment. The chapters include assessment of behavior, affect, social cognition, communication, sexual dysfunction, child and marital problems, family assessment. All the chapters include reference to specific assessment measures of the areas covered. In addition, for clinical use, one has been selected by each of the authors to represent a state of the art measure that can be used by clinicians. Reliability, validity, and normative data are presented on these measures which appear in full in the appendix of the text. O'Leary provides a context for this book in the first chapter of the book and in the final chapter discusses with his co-author how they begin their assessments from the initial phone contact, the assessment battery, the interviews with the clients and the couple, to the evaluation of the therapy sessions by the clients. Handbook of Disruptive Behavior Disorders Herbert C. Quay, Anne E.

Hogan, 2013-11-11 The purpose of this Handbook is to provide the researcher, clinician, teacher, and student in all mental health fields with comprehensive coverage of Disruptive Behavior Disorders: Attention Deficit Hyperactivity Disorder, Conduct Disorder, and Oppositional Defiant Disorder. With over 50 contributors and 2600 references, this Handbook is the most complete resource available on this important topic. Marriage Enrichment Richard A. Hunt, Larry Hof, Rita DeMaria, 1998 This volume traces the modern critical and performance history of this play, one of Shakespeare's most loved and most performed comedies. The essay focus on such modern concerns as feminism, deconstruction, textual theory, and queer theory.

Assessing Attention-Deficit/Hyperactivity Disorder Arthur D. Anastopoulos, Terri L. Shelton, 2005-12-27 Over the past two decades, the assessment of Attention Deficit Hyperactivity Disorder (AD/HD) has evolved into a sophisticated balance of science and clinical judgement essential for arriving at reliable and valid diagnostic decisions. Because of the precarious mix of clinical and empirical skill needed to evaluate children with this disorder, diagnostic practice in this area has been found wanting by many critics. In fact, a 1998 National Institutes of Health consensus panel concluded that existing diagnostic treatment practices point to the need for improved awareness by the health service sector concerning an appropriate assessment, treatment, and follow-up. A more consistent set of diagnostic procedures and practice guidelines is of utmost importance. p. 21 Drs. Arthur D. Anastopoulos and Terri L. Shelton have designed a book that addresses this need. A number of themes are highlighted throughout the text. Perhaps the most important is that the assessment guidelines set forth in this book represent a balance between science and practice. The authors account for the realities of clinical practice in an age of managed care while challenging clinicians to heed the lessons of empirical research. Although the use of empirically based assessment procedures may at times fly in the face of cost constraints (e.g., systematic evaluation of medication effects), the authors present a strong argument for them. Further, they call upon their vast clinical experience to provide concrete suggestions for translating research findings into effective evaluations. Family Assessment: Rationale, Methods, and Future Directions Theodore Jacob, Daniel L. Tennenbaum, 2013-11-21 The purpose of this book is to review existing and developing family assessment methods relevant to the study of psycho pathology It is our intention not only to inform clinical researchers of the many valuable family assessment methods that are available but also to encourage the incorporation of such procedures into future research efforts In so doing we believe that our understanding of the etiology course treatment and prevention of adult and childhood disorders will be greatly enriched The book begins with an overview of the larger social and intellectual forces which have led to the current interest in studying family influences on psychopathology in children and adolescence For each stream of influence we attempt to highlight theoretical and methodological contributions relevant to the family's role in the etiology exacerbation and treatment of childhood disorders Next a framework for classifying family measurement procedures is introduced in which three major dimensions are emphasized unit of analysis source of data and construct assessed The third and most important chapter provides detailed reviews of a selected number of methods within each of the major groupings that have been delimited references and brief descriptions of other measures that cannot be reviewed in detail and a discussion of the promising and developing techniques that are known to the authors

Infancy to Early Childhood Robert N. Emde, John K. Hewitt, 2001-04-19 Behavioral genetics is a fast growing multidisciplinary field which attempts to explain the influence of genetic and environmental factors on behavior through the lifespan The preferred investigative technique for teasing out the differences between genetics and the environment is the longitudinal twin study This book is the first complete publication from the MacArthur Longitudinal Twin Study MALTS that is by far the most ambitious and comprehensive longitudinal twin study to date The goal of such an in depth study was not to merely provide thorough descriptions of developmental change between the ages of one and three years but to offer an original theoretical framework that explains how change occurs in different domains and how genetics and the environment influence those changes This rigorous study will set the agenda for developmental psychology and behavioral genetics for decades to come
