

Summary

I'll be summarizing the short story from Paul Mechanics by Raymond Carver. The story depicts the issues surrounding divorce and the consequences that come with this action.

The author started by describing how the season changed where it's getting darker and at the point the snow is getting melted. A scene where a man is quickly tucking his garments into the box he carries around. The woman was relieved when she made her way to the bedroom realizing that he was stepping out but somehow upset that he even had the slightest idea of leaving. She cried after saying out loud "Son of a bitch! I am so glad you are leaving!" (Carver, n.d).

As he was done packing his clothes, he headed towards the kitchen doorway where he met the woman carrying the baby. He stretched to take the baby from her but she blatantly refused him from doing that. He tried again but this time she moved closer to the stove in the kitchen, at this point the baby was already crying. He successfully grabbed the baby away from her tight grip. The man put him under his arm but the woman couldn't let go completely as she held on to the baby's other arm and wrist tightly. The man held on to the baby and was not willing to let go. The story came to an end. "In this manner, the issue was decided." (Carver,n.d)

Though the story is interesting, I'm not comfortable with the fact that the baby had to go through that with the whole back and forth they exhibited. The baby was clearly helpless and I'm out here wondering what would have happened if he fell. The decision should be made without having to hurt anyone in the process.
