Fun-Size Academic Writing for Serious Learning Gretchen Bernabei, Judi Reimer, 2013-08-06 Sometimes a student's best teacher is another student. Just as the pressure for students to perform well on state assessments escalates ever higher and the call to raise students' achievement in narrative opinion argument and informative explanatory writing grows louder, Gretchen Bernabei and Judi Reimer publish Fun Size Academic Writing for Serious Learning. If ever there were a book to answer every need, this is it. You see, Gretchen and Judi have been concerned about adolescents writing for years, and they have had amazing success using mentor texts by students to teach the ins and outs of writing in any genre. So with this book, they hand over their file drawers and provide you with 101 essays written by students with one-page companion lessons that address text structure, imagery, dialogue, rhetorical devices, grammatical structures, textual blends, all the different tools that writers use. Organized into three major sections that align with the Common Core, STAAR, and other major state assessments, Fun Size Academic Writing delivers succinct powerhouse instruction on topics such as: How to choose a structure for argument, informational, or narrative writing; How to read a piece and extract thesis statement and main points; How to layer a wide range of details to support points; How to use rhetorical devices and grammatical constructions for effect; How to write from the point of view of a fictional character. The essays are also available in reproducible form on the companion website. They demonstrate something striking, something imitable, something concrete. They give students a bank of choices to call upon as they write. The lessons are short, practical, and full of variety. Collectively, these essays and lessons have the potential to move the needle on American students' writing achievement once and for all. They show what has been done by students, and they reveal to you how your own students can do it too. Text Structures From Fairy Tales Gretchen Bernabei, Judi Reimer, 2018-12-28 Put text structures to work, and soon your students will be writing happily ever after. Award-winning authors Gretchen Bernabei and Judi Reimer make teaching to write about abstract concepts easy and fun. Thirty-five lessons centered on classic fairy tales give students the focused practice they need to produce effective analytical writing on demand and in any situation. Designed to be used by students of all ages, each lesson includes a writing prompt and a planning framework that leads students to organize writing through a text structure. With practice, students move from dependency on teacher guidance to becoming autonomous designers of their own analytical writing. Developing Cultural Literacy Through the Writing Process Barbara C. Palmer, Mary L. Hafner, Marilyn F. Sharp, 1994 This work promotes the expansion of cultural literacy with the development of process-based writing. It examines each stage of the writing process, emphasizing the recursive and overlapping nature of the stages. Using many related model activities, it shows classroom and prospective teachers how to develop the writing process while expanding the child's knowledge base and providing opportunities for the child to think critically. Write This Down Claudia Mills, 2024-09-04 Twelve-year-old Autumn loves to write, and she can't wait to grow up and be a published author. Writing: Step by Step Randy Devillez, 2003-05-30 What are your students' goals? The Fabric of Life Ronald T. Marchese, 2005 Teens Have Style! Sharon Snow, Yvonne Reed, 2013-03-18 Authors Sharon Snow and Yvonne Reed present fashion as a way to offer a fun and interesting program for teens in the library and not just for girls. Today's fashion-savvy teenaged guys are just as likely to be eager participants. Teens Have Style: Fashion Programs for Young Adults at the Library provides an easy-to-follow template for creating popular programs within the public or school library setting that will capture the attention of most teenaged girls. In Teens Have Style, librarians will find programs they can adapt to their individual style or specific age range of their younger patrons, such as getting ready for the prom, making jewelry, decorating sneakers, creating a green outfit from recycled materials, and many more. All of the ideas are flexible and can be matched to other educational programs or to fit the library's needs regardless of its size. For example, school librarians can partner with art teachers to orchestrate a Fashion as Art program which challenges students to identify a painting that they like and then to create an outfit that reflects the style and feel of that work of art.
