A Linguistic Handbook of French for Translators and Language Students Paul Boucher, 2018-04-03 A Linguistic Handbook of French for Translators and Language Students offers the reader an in depth contrastive study of French and English based on recent theories of linguistics and discourse analysis At the same time it is a practical manual for the advanced language student or the translator with dozens of exercises in analyzing and translating French along with detailed corrections Organized in three sections Structure Perspective and Coherence the handbook first explores French word formation and syntax then moves on to the use of tense and aspect illocution and speech styles in various text types Finally problems concerning textual coherence and cohesion in both languages are discussed anaphora and ellipsis relevance and equivalence and information structure Each chapter is followed by a list of suggested readings for further discussion and a detailed glossary at the end of the book explains all technical terms used The handbook is designed to be used either as a textbook or for individuals working at home

Discourse Pragmatics and the Verb Suzanne Fleischman, LINDA WAUGH, 2016-11-18 First published in 1990 this collection investigates grammatical categories associated with the verb as they are used by speakers and writers in real discourses and texts Focusing on tense aspect mood and voice in French Spanish and Italian each chapter underscores the importance of context in our understanding of how grammatical categories work Above and beyond their basic grammatical functions categories of the verb are shown to operate in such capacities as structuring information in discourse establishing point of view in a text and creating textual cohesion Importantly this volume reflects the crucial role discourse pragmatics factors play in our interpretation of the meanings of categories of grammar

Time and the Verb Robert I. Binnick,1991 This guide provides the reader with a broad perspective of grammar from classical Greek and Latin to the latest proposals in formal semantics Teaching French Grammar in Context Stacey Katz Bourns,Stacey L. Katz,Carl Stewart Blyth,2007-01-01 Something needs to be done about grammar Katz and Blyth have written this book with the hope of changing the way French instructors teach and conceive of grammar Intended to help teachers and teacher trainers develop an understanding of French discourse that is grounded in recent theoretical and sociolinguistic research this book is devoted to informing teachers in training as well as experienced teachers about cutting edge methods for teaching grammar It also describes the grammatical features of the French language in its social context At the same time it provides suggestions for applying such abstract knowledge in practical pedagogical ways for example how to structure grammatical explanations devise classroom activities and take advantage of resources that give students greater exposure to French as it is truly used in various discourse environments Language and Football Eva precocious portrayal of identity in La Recherche as an elusive unattainable idea that characters pursue yet consistently fail to establish. Ultimately the enigmatic and anonymous narrator models fluidity and promotes fantasy and imagination to compensate for the limitations imposed on individuals by social and linguistic conventions.

Relative Tense and Aspectual Values in Tibetan Languages Bettina Zeisler, 2011-06-24 This study presents a comparative approach to a universal theory of TENSE ASPECT and MOOD combining the methods of comparative and historical linguistics fieldwork, text linguistics and philology. The parts of the book discuss and describe: i) the concepts of TENSE ASPECT and MOOD; ii) the Tibetan system of RELATIVE TENSE and aspectual values with main sections on Old and Classical Tibetan, Lhasa Tibetan and East Tibetan, Amdo and Kham; and iii) West Tibetan, Ladakhi, Purik, Balti. Part iv presents the comparative view. Discussing the similarities and differences of temporal and aspectual concepts, the study rejects the general claim that ASPECT is a linguistic universal. A new linguistic concept, FRAMING, is introduced in order to account for the aspect-like conceptualisations found in e.g. English. The concept of RELATIVE TENSE or taxis may likewise not be universal. Among the Tibetan varieties, West Tibetan is unique in having fully grammaticalized the concept of ABSOLUTE TENSE. West Tibetan is compared diachronically with Old and Classical Tibetan, documented since the mid 8th century, and synchronically with several contemporary Tibetan varieties. The grammaticalized forms of each variety are described on the basis of their employment in discourse. The underlying general function of the Tibetan verbal system is thus shown to be that of RELATIVE TENSE. Secondary aspectual functions are described for restricted contexts. A special focus on the pragmatic or metaphorical use of present tense constructions in Tibetan leads to a typology of narrative conventions. The last part also offers some suggestions for the reconstruction of the Proto-Tibetan verb system.

Tense and Aspect in Romance Languages Dalila Ayoun, M. Rafael Salaberry, 2005-08-18 This volume presents a state-of-the-art descriptive and explanatory analysis of the second language development of Romance tense aspect systems. It contains new experimental data from adult French, Catalan, Portuguese learners and Italian children learners. Standing research questions are addressed and pedagogical implications for foreign language classrooms are proposed, arguing that there are possible commonalities in the instructional sequences of tense aspect development in Romance languages. The first chapter presents an overview of current theoretical approaches and a summary of empirical findings. The following four chapters introduce new empirical data from a variety of theoretical perspectives, e.g. the Aspect Hypothesis, the UG Minimalist framework. Chapter 5 proposes practical pedagogical approaches for the foreign language classroom based on empirical findings. The last chapter summarizes and discusses these findings in order to start elaborating a more comprehensive model of the development of tense aspect marking in the Romance languages.

Language Bases ... Discourse Bases Gilberte Piéraut-Le Bonniec, Marlene Dolitsky, 1991-03-22 When child language began to be studied in the sixties, what interested researchers most was what could be considered language per se. Holophrases were excluded as seemingly having no syntax and research work was carried out as if of the two word stage.

Language development was studied up to around age seven the age at which natural acquisition processes were considered to be contaminated by formal schooling in language In opposition to such an attitude this volume has ignored this heavily studied area of language development preferring to present research being carried out at the two ends of the development process that had been rejected that of prelinguistic speech skills at the one end and the development of discourse at the other This book thus begins with the physical properties in human development necessary for language to occur It also offers studies on a child s initial equipment i e intra uterine skills and skills acquired before first words At the other end are studies on the development of discourse i e the child s acquisition of the ability not only to juxtapose ideas but to link them into cohesive coherent texts and to use argumentation skills that are not fully acquired until the child is well into adolescence and nearing adulthood

Teaching with Heart Jennifer Nelson, 2025-07-30 Why are so many teachers leaving the profession They re burned out they feel disrespected and unsupported After teaching remotely during a pandemic they re returning to classrooms with under socialized and sometimes out of control kids What to do Teaching with Heart chronicles the journey of a journalist turned teacher determined to make teaching work despite its difficulties Peek into Madame Nelson s classroom to see her trying to reach teens who dance cry and hit each other in French class administrators who laud the latest pedagogical trends and testing regime and parents who sometimes support and sometimes interfere with their children s education Meet colleagues who save her from quitting and her children who provide advice Along the journey she evolves from an aloof elitist into an empathetic listener to all sorts of teens Isn t it time we create schools in which teachers want to stay and new ones enter Without committed teachers how can we prepare students to run our world Teaching with Heart illuminates why it s so hard to hold on to classroom teachers these days and what can be done to better the situation

The Development of Past Tense Morphology in L2 Spanish M. Rafael Salaberry, 2001-02-12 This book presents an extended analysis of the development of L2 Spanish past tense morphology among L1 English speaking learners The study addresses three major questions 1 what is the developmental pattern of acquisition of past tense verbal morphology among tutored learners 2 what are the relevant factors that may account for the particular distribution of morphological endings especially at the beginning stages and 3 how does instruction affect the movement from one stage to the next The analysis provides a reassessment of the general claim of Andersen s lexical aspect hypothesis and proposes minor changes that may render the hypothesis more appropriate for especially L2 classroom learning. The study includes an overview of theoretical positions on the notion of lexical versus grammatical aspect and a comparison of the findings from previous empirical studies on the development of past tense verbal morphology among both classroom and naturalistic learners.
