Madison House Peter Donahue, 2011-08-11 PETER DONAHUE'S DEBUT NOVEL MADISON HOUSE which won the Langum Prize for Historical Fiction 2005 chronicles turn of the century Seattle's explosive transformation from frontier outpost to major metropolis Maddie Ingram owner of Madison House and her quirky and endearing boarders find their lives inextricably linked when the city decides to re grade Denny Hill and the fate of Madison House hangs in the balance Maddie's albino handyman and furtive love interest a muckraking black journalist who owns and publishes the Seattle Sentry newspaper and an aspiring stage actress forced into prostitution and morphine addiction while working in the city's corrupt vaudeville theater all call Madison House home Had E L Doctorow and Charles Dickens met on the streets of Seattle they couldn't have created a better book White Matter Janet Sternburg, 2015-08-17 White Matter A Memoir of Family and Medicine is the story of a Bostonian close knit Jewish working class family of five sisters and one brother and the impact they and their next generation endured due to the popularization of lobotomy during the 20th century When Janet Sternburg's grandfather abandoned his family and her uncle Bennie became increasingly mentally ill Sternburg's mother and aunts had to bind together and make crucial decisions for the family's survival. Two of the toughest familial decisions they made were to have Bennie undergo a lobotomy to treat his schizophrenia and later to have youngest sister Francie undergo the same procedure to treat severe depression. Both heartrending decisions were largely a result of misinformation disseminated that popularized and legitimized lobotomy. Woven into Sternburg's story are notable figures that influenced the family as well as the entire medical field. In 1949, Egas Moniz was awarded the Nobel Prize in Medicine for developing the lobotomy, and in the three years that followed his acceptance of the award, more Americans underwent the surgery than during the previous 14 years. By the early 1950s, Walter Freeman developed an alternate technique for lobotomy which he proselytized during his travels throughout the country in a van he dubbed the Lobotomobile. The phrase prefrontal lobotomy was common currency growing up in Janet Sternburg's family, and in White Matter, she details this scientific discovery that disconnects the brain's white matter, leaving a person without feelings and its undeserved legitimization and impact on her family. She writes as a daughter consumed with questions about her mother and aunts, all well-meaning women who decided their siblings' mental health issues would be best treated with lobotomies. By the late 1970s, the surgical practice was almost completely out of favor, but its effects left patients and their families with complicated legacies as well as a stain on American medical history. Every generation has to make its own medical choices based on knowledge that will inevitably come to seem inadequate in the future. How do we live with our choices when we see their consequences?

Imagine a Door Laura Stanfill, 2025-04-01
Foreword by Beth Kephart, author of Handling the Truth. Imagine a Door intersperses craft insights, case studies, and checklists with personal stories about publishing and the emotional complexities of sending your work into the world. Is a writing routine worthwhile? How do you pinpoint the why behind your storytelling and use it to improve your manuscript? What makes a query letter stand out? What exactly is distribution? Does success mean selling a certain number of books, or can we reframe our expectations in a less capitalistic way? While prioritizing genuine community over platform building, Laura Stanfill, publisher of Forest Avenue Press and author of Singing Lessons for the Stylish Canary, explores these questions from both sides of the desk. She peppers her material with original interviews with authors Omar El Akkad, Fonda Lee, Amy Stewart, Wendy Chin Tanner, Keith Rosson, Rosie Thor, Kesha Ajose, Fisher Emme Lund, and agents, editors, and publishers.

The Pet Thief Kassten Alonso, 2013-03-11 The Pet Thief is a dystopian fable of science rebellion, humankind's inhumanity, and the struggle for identity and survival in a post-human world.

California Calling Natalie Singer, 2018-03-13 This book split my heart open and reminded me how much immigrants matter, how much we all carry the traces of other worlds.

LIDIA YUKNAVITCH The Chronology of Water California Calling is a lyrical self-interrogation of obsession, emigration, and identity. Natalie Singer's story opens in a courtroom on a witness stand where she's forced to testify in a family breakup that changes the course of her life. At sixteen, Natalie emigrates from Montreal and the secrets it holds to the golden promise of the California Bay Area, just as her Jewish ancestors fled Russia and went west for a new life. Through uneasy rituals of high school pep rallies and college sex in boats and the backs of pickups to a summer tracing a serial killer through the heart of Gold Country to an eventual journalism career in San Francisco and the deserts of Palm Springs Natalie aches to forge an American identity At once an intimately unflinching memoir and a probing examination of the family and cultural myths that shape us California Calling calls upon history reportage witness interrogation tactics music and pop culture and the iconography of the West to explore whether we can cure loneliness through landscape Ultimately California Calling is a search for a state of belonging Autobiography of a Recovering Skinhead Frank Meeink, Jody Roy, 2013-12-13

Autobiography of a Recovering Skinhead is Frank Meeink's raw telling of his descent into America's Nazi underground and his ultimate triumph over drugs and hatred Frank's violent childhood in South Philadelphia primed him to hate while addiction made him easy prey for a small group of skinhead gang recruiters By 16 he had become one of the most notorious skinhead gang leaders on the East Coast and by 18 he was doing hard time Teamed up with African American players in a prison football league Frank learned to question his hatred and after being paroled he defected from the white supremac

Love and Terror on the Howling Plains of Nowhere Poe Ballantine, 2013-08-19 Fans of Truman Capote's In Cold Blood and John Berendt's Midnight in the Garden of Good and Evil will embrace Poe Ballantine's Love and Terror on the Howling Plains of Nowhere For well over twenty years Poe Ballantine traveled America taking odd jobs living in small rooms and wondering the big whys At age 46 he finally settled with his Mexican immigrant wife in Chadron Nebraska where they had a son who was red flagged as autistic Poe published four books about his experiences as a wanderer and his observations of America But one day in 2006 his neighbor Steven Haataja a math professor from the local state college disappeared Ninety five days later the professor was found bound to a tree burned to death in the hills behind the campus where he had taught No one law enforcement included understood the circumstances Poe had never contemplated writing mystery or true crime but since he knew all the players the suspects the sheriff the police involved he and his kindergarten son set out to find out what might have happened Holding Silvan Monica Wesolowska, 2013 In the opening of Holding Silvan A Brief Life Monica Wesolowska gives birth to her first child a healthy seeming boy who is taken from her arms for observation when he won't stop crying Within days Monica and her husband have been given the grimmest of prognoses for Silvan and they must make a choice about his life The story that follows is not a story of typical maternal heroism There is no medical miracle here Instead we find the strangest of hopes Certain of her choice Monica must still ask herself at every step if she is loving Silvan as well as a mother can The result is a page turning testimony to the power of love By raising ethical questions about how a death can be good in the age of modern medicine Holding Silvan becomes a joyous paean to what makes life itself good Whether you have suffered profound loss or not this book will change your life Aus Liebe loslassen Monica Wesolowska, 2014-03-19 Nur wenige Stunden nach der Geburt stellt sich heraus dass der kleine Silvan eine schwere Hirnschädigung hat. Wird er je selbstständig schlucken, laufen oder ein Bewusstsein entwickeln? Die Eltern ringen mit ihrer Verzweiflung und ihrer Hoffnung für dieses Neugeborene. Was bedeutet es ein Kind zu lieben, das nur mithilfe der Apparatedizin am Leben gehalten wird? Die Liebe zu ihrem Sohn führt die Eltern schließlich zu einer schweren Entscheidung: Das Baby soll nicht länger künstlich ernährt werden, sondern sterben dürfen. Eine außergewöhnliche und berührende Geschichte über Mut und Verzweiflung über Entscheidungen an den Grenzen des Lebens und ganz besonders über eine Liebe bis in den Tod und darüber hinaus.

Saving Stanley Scott Nadelson, 2011-04-01 WINNER OF THE H. L. DAVIS AWARD FOR SHORT FICTION at the 2004 Oregon Book Awards and GLCA's 2005 New Writers Award. Scott Nadelson's interrelated short stories are graceful, vivid narratives that bring into sudden focus the spirit and the stubborn resilience of the Brickmans, a Jewish family of four living in suburban New Jersey. The central character, Daniel Brickman, forges obstinately through his own plots and desires as he struggles to balance his sense of identity with his longing to gain acceptance from his family and peers. In Kosher, Daniel's disdain for his parents' values and lifestyle for their materialism and need for security leads him to take a job as a telemarketer for the Robowski Fund for the Disabled, a charity benefiting two people only: Daniel and Helen Robowski. And in Young Radicals, Daniel gathers research for a thesis on early Soviet history by interviewing his grandfather, now a retiree in Florida who painted factories and sang Communist work songs in 1920s Leningrad before immigrating to America. This fierce collection provides an unblinking examination of family life and the human instinct for attachment.
