

African Elephants

Did you know that African elephants are the largest land mammals on Earth? An adult can weigh up to eight tons, or 16,000 pounds. Even though they are large, elephants are peaceful creatures.

African elephants are endangered. In the 1930's there were more than 3 million African elephants in the wild. Today, there are only around half a million.

African elephants are in danger because they are losing much of their habitat, and they are being hunted for their tusks. It is illegal to kill an elephant for its tusks, but people still do it. The ivory is very valuable.

There are many wildlife groups that work to protect elephants. People can donate money to these groups to help support them.
