Britain Through Muslim Eyes Claire Chambers, 2015-07-30 What did Britain look like to the Muslims who visited and lived in the country in increasing numbers from the late eighteenth century onwards This book is a literary history of representations of Muslims in Britain from the late eighteenth century to the eve of Salman Rushdie's publication of The Satanic Verses 1988

A History of Indian Literature: 1911-1956, struggle for freedom : triumph and tragedy Sisir Kumar Das, 2005 Presents the Indian literatures not in isolation in one another but as related components in a larger complex conspicuous by the existence of age old multilingualism and a variety of literary traditions

Shattering the Stereotypes Fawzia Afzal-Khan, 2005 In the wake of September 11th Muslim women in the West found themselves more marginalized than ever by a panicked discourse that did little to promote a true understanding of Islam or the Islamic world Here in this ambitious volume that includes essays poetry fiction memoir plays and artwork Muslim women speak for themselves revealing a complexity of experience and thought that escapes most Western portrayals Islam is as editor Fawzia Afzal Khan puts it only one spoke in the wheel of our lives In Shattering the Stereotypes essays by such writers as Ayesha Jalal the Pakistani American historian poems by award winning poets including Suheir Hammad and Nathalie Handal and a selection of short fiction and plays that are not just ethnically but attitudinally diverse together make a more rounded portrait of what it is to be a Muslim woman in the 21st century

Barbed Wire Jayita Sengupta, 2020-11-29 The book is an anthology of creative and critical responses to the many partitions of India within and across borders By widening and reframing the question of partition in the subcontinent from one event in 1947 to a larger series of partitions the book presents a deeper perspective both on the concept of partition in understanding South Asia and understanding the implications from survivors victims and others The imagery of the barbed wire in the title is used precisely to confront the jaggedness of experiencing and surviving partition that still haunts the national literary religious and political matrices of India The volume is a compilation of short stories poems articles news reports and memoirs with each contributor bringing forth their perception of partition and its effects on their life and identity The many narratives amplify the human cost of partitions examining the complexities of a bruised nation at the social psychological and religious levels of consciousness The book will appeal to anyone interested in literary studies history politics sociology cultural studies and comparative literature A History of Indian Literature: Struggle for freedom: triumph and tragedy,
