Comparative Sociology of Examinations Fumiya Onaka, 2019-03-28 Contemporary societies are constructed constricted and constrained by various series of examinations Governments of both Western and non Western countries tend to conduct detailed multi layered and continuous systems of tests or examinations International tests such as PISA and TIMSS have also been introduced to compare the relative performances of learners within diverse educational institutions across different countries Examinations therefore provide a methodological pivot for comparing a range of societies They enable us to contrast the West and the East the North and the South tribal and mass society ancient and postmodern civilization and so on Comparing parallel societies from across Asia the Middle East Europe and North America this book proposes fundamental transitions in sociological research from system to process and from communication to composition through intensive studies on examinations It uses ethnographies interviews questionnaires documents statistics and big data analyses to make comparisons on broad scales of time and space In so doing it suggests hypotheses encompassing different kinds of societies in human history including those in the Axial Age and the Modern Ages

New Directions in Assessing Historical Thinking Kadriye Ercikan, Peter Seixas, 2015-02-20 New technologies have radically transformed our relationship to information in general and to little bits of information in particular The assessment of history learning which for a century has valued those little bits as the centerpiece of its practice now faces not only an unprecedented glut but a disconnect with what is valued in history education More complex processes historical thinking historical consciousness or historical sense making demand more complex assessments At the same time advances in scholarship on assessment open up new possibilities For this volume Kadriye Ercikan and Peter Seixas have assembled an international array of experts who have collectively moved the fields of history education and assessment forward Their various approaches negotiate the sometimes conflicting demands of theoretical sophistication empirically demonstrated validity and practical efficiency Key issues include articulating the cognitive goals of history education the relationship between content and procedural knowledge the impact of students language literacy on history assessments and methods of validation in both large scale and classroom assessments New Directions in Assessing Historical Thinking is a critical research oriented resource that will advance the conceptualization design and validation of the next generation of history assessments
