

2024 ECONOMICS 12 MACROECONOMICS ESSAYS (P1)

A. CIRCULAR FLOW

1. Discuss in detail the markets within the FOUR-SECTOR model. (28 marks)

INTRODUCTION

- ✓ Market is the mechanism that brings buyers and sellers together to exchange goods and services. ✓✓
- ✓ Markets coordinate economic activities and determine prices of goods and services. ✓✓

BODY

PRODUCT AND FACTOR MARKETS

Product market/Goods/Output markets ✓

- Product market is where goods and services are exchanged for money. ✓✓
- E.g. Shoprite retailer. ✓
- These are markets for consumer goods and services. ✓✓
- In economics a distinction is made between goods and services:
- Goods are defined as any tangible items such as clothing, food cars that satisfy human wants or need. ✓✓
- Capital and consumer goods are traded in these markets. ✓✓
- Capital goods market are trading buildings and machinery. ✓✓
- Consumer goods markets are trading durable consumer goods, semi-durable goods and non-durable goods. ✓✓
- Services are defined as non-tangible actions e.g. wholesalers and retailer, transport and financial markets. ✓✓

Factor market/Resource/Input markets ✓

- Factor market is where factors of production are traded. ✓✓ e.g. labour is hired and capital is borrowed. ✓✓
- Households sell factors of production in this market. ✓✓
- These services earn wages for labour, interest for capital, rent for natural resources and profits for entrepreneurship. ✓✓
- Labour can be bought and sold in this market. ✓✓
- Factor market includes labour, property and financial markets. ✓✓
 - ✓ Product markets and factor markets are related in the sense that the demand for factor services is a derived demand. ✓✓

Handbook of Experimental Economic Methodology Guillaume R. Fréchette,Andrew Schotter,2015-01-02 The Handbook of Experimental Economic Methodology edited by Guillaume R Fr chette and Andrew Schotter aims to confront and debate the issues faced by the growing field of experimental economics For example as experimental work attempts to test theory it raises questions about the proper relationship between theory and experiments As experimental results are used to inform policy the utility of these results outside the lab is questioned and finally as experimental economics tries to integrate ideas from other disciplines like psychology and neuroscience the question of their proper place in the discipline of economics becomes less clear This book contains papers written by some of the most accomplished scholars working at the intersection of experimental behavioral and theoretical economics talking about methodology It is divided into four sections each of which features a set of papers and a set of comments on those papers The intention of the volume is to offer a place where ideas about methodology could be discussed and even argued Some of the papers are contentious a healthy sign of a dynamic discipline while others lay out a vision for how the authors think experimental economics should be pursued This exciting and illuminating collection of papers brings light to a topic at the core of experimental economics Researchers from a broad range of fields will benefit from the exploration of these important questions

The Economics of Protected Marine Species: Concepts in Research and Management Kristy Wallmo, Kathryn Bisack, Daniel K. Lew, Dale E.

Squires, 2016-10-21 Protected marine species have populations that are depleted decreasing or are at risk of extinction or local extirpation As of 2015 The International Union for the Conservation of Nature a global environmental organization lists approximately 737 marine species worldwide that are considered at risk of extinction Many are provided legal protection through national laws requiring research and management measures aimed at recovering and maintaining the species at a sustainable population level Integral to the policy decision process involving the management and recovery of marine species is the consideration of trade offs between the economic and ecological costs and benefits of protection This suggests that economics at its core the study of trade offs has a significant role In the U S a somewhat traditional use of economics in protected species research and management has involved cost minimization or cost effectiveness analyses to help select or prioritize conservation actions Economic research has also provided estimates of public non market benefits of recovering species which can be used in larger management frameworks such as ecosystem based management and coastal and marine spatial planning Inherent in much of this research however are complex biological and ecological relationships in which varying degrees of scientific uncertainty are present Addressing this type of uncertainty can affect the economic outcomes related to protected species For example recent work suggests that increasing scientific precision in biological sampling and models can greatly affect the magnitude of economic benefits to commercial fisheries while other research suggests that public non market benefits of species recovery are sensitive to uncertainty about baseline population estimates Previous research has illustrated the importance of understanding the biological ecological and economic aspects of protected species management and recovery In this research topic we synthesize current protected marine species economic research and expand the discussion on present and future challenges related to protected species economics The series of manuscripts brings together an array of prominent researchers and advances our understanding of the ecological and economic aspects of managing and recovering protected marine species

Law and Economics of Personalized Medicine Karin Bosshard, 2018-05-14 The book adds to the discussion about strategic approaches towards the translation of personalized medicine into clinical practice It stresses the importance of non science related institutional barriers A Law and Economics perspective is applied in order to examine the incentives induced by the barriers An applied part identifies and evaluates policy levers to foster the translation of personalized medicine into Swiss clinical practice

School's Choice Wagma

Mommandi, Kevin Welner, 2021 Access issues are pivotal to almost all charter school tensions and debates How well are these schools performing Are they segregating and stratifying Are they public and democratic Are they fairly funded Can apparent successes be scaled up Answers to all these core questions hinge on how access to charter schools is shaped This book describes the incentives and pressures on charter schools to restrict access and examines how charters navigate those pressures explaining access restricting practices in relation to the ecosystem within which charter schools are created It also explains how charters have sometimes responded by resisting the pressures and sometimes by surrendering to them The text presents analyses of 13 different types of practices around access each of which shapes the school's enrollment The authors conclude by offering recommendations for how states and authorizers can address access related inequities that arise in the charter sector School's Choice provides timely information on critical academic and policy issues that will come into play as charter school policy continues to evolve Book Features Examines how charter schools control who gains and retains access Explores policies and practices that undermine equitable admission and encourage opportunity hoarding Offers a set of policy recommendations at the state and federal level to address access related issues

African American Women with Incarcerated Mates Avon Hart-Johnson, 2017-11-20 After four decades of mass incarceration in the U S the disproportionate number of black men in prisons has contributed to an epidemic of black women struggling to support fragile families Yet the literature is scant on how African American women are affected by the imprisonment of their partners Drawing on case studies and firsthand accounts the author brings needed perspective to the political economic and psychological challenges they face including the experience of symbolic imprisonment or serving time on the outside

How Social Science Got Better Matt Grossmann, 2021-08-06 It seems like most of what we read about the academic social sciences in the mainstream media is negative The field is facing mounting criticism as canonical studies fail to replicate questionable research practices abound and researcher social and political biases come under fire In response to these criticisms Matt Grossmann in How Social Science Got Better provides a robust defense of the current state of the social sciences Applying insights from the philosophy history and sociology of science and providing new data on research trends and scholarly views he argues that far from crisis social science is undergoing an unparalleled renaissance of ever broader understanding and application According to Grossmann social science research today has never been more relevant rigorous or self reflective because scholars have a much better idea of their blind spots and biases He highlights how scholars now closely analyze the impact of racial gender geographic methodological political and ideological differences on research questions how the incentives of academia influence our research practices and how universal human desires to avoid uncomfortable truths and easily solve problems affect our conclusions Though misaligned incentive structures of course remain a messy collective deliberation across the research community has shifted us into an unprecedented age of theoretical diversity open and connected data and public scholarship Grossmann's wide ranging account of current trends will necessarily force the academy's many critics to rethink their lazy critiques and instead acknowledge the path breaking advances occurring in the social sciences today

How Our Love of Dogs Creates Social Conflict James K. Beggan, 2022-09-07 For the last twenty thousand years dogs and people have shared a unique bond in the animal kingdom In How Our Love of Dogs Creates Social Conflict James K Beggan uses symbolic interaction to examine the meaning that dogs have for people as friends and family members Although many animal rights advocates express dismay over the subordinate status ownership implies the author argues that ownership creates a powerful psychological connection that makes it easier for people to imbue dogs with humanlike characteristics Beggan outlines how dogs sensitivity to inequity in combination with a high degree of cognitive capacity makes it possible for dogs to be active agents in creating conflict between people The author s analysis of social conflict between people over their dogs connects to profound philosophical concepts about the nature of mind the relationship between humans and animals and the moral responsibility human beings have to dogs and other animals Digital Imaging of Plants Michele

Pisante, Kathy Steppe, Angelica Galieni, Nicola D'Ascenzo, Fabio Stagnari, Qingguo Xie, 2022-07-28 The Statebuilder's Dilemma David A. Lake, 2016-06-10 The central task of all statebuilding is to create a state that is regarded as legitimate by the people over whom it exercises authority This is a necessary condition for stable effective governance States sufficiently motivated to bear the costs of building a state in some distant land are likely to have interests in the future policies of that country and will therefore seek to promote loyal leaders who are sympathetic to their interests and willing to implement their preferred policies In The Statebuilder s Dilemma David A Lake addresses the key tradeoff between legitimacy and loyalty common to all international statebuilding attempts Except in rare cases where the policy preferences of the statebuilder and the population of the country whose state is to be built coincide as in the famous success cases of West Germany and Japan after 1945 promoting a leader who will remain loyal to the statebuilder undermines that leader s legitimacy at home In Iraq thrust into a statebuilding role it neither anticipated nor wanted the United States eventually backed Nouri al Malaki as the most favorable of a bad lot of alternative leaders Malaki then used the support of the Bush administration to govern as a Shiite partisan undermining the statebuilding effort and ultimately leading to the second failure of the Iraqi state in 2014 Ethiopia faced the same tradeoff in Somalia after the rise of a promising but irredentist government in 2006 invading to put its own puppet in power in Mogadishu But the resulting government has not been able to build significant local support and legitimacy Lake uses these cases to demonstrate that the greater the interests of the statebuilder in the target country the more difficult it is to build a legitimate state that can survive on its own
