Yesterday, my little sisters challenged me to a game of Scrabble. Usually, I avoid playing games with them because they're terrible cheaters. But their pleading wore me down, and it was raining, so I agreed. We set up the board on the dining-room table, removing Princess, the cat that likes to sleep there. Then we picked our tiles. There are only two blank tiles, and I got them both! Things were looking good. The girls obviously didn't like these tiles. They kept trying to sneak their hands into the tile bag for new ones. There is not much else to say about the game, except that it went on and on and on. When it finally ended, I was more than ready to get out of there. The score? Lisa: 333, Janet: 286, Mei: 84. Ugh. My sisters, of course, had a great time. They're already begging me to play again.

DAZZLE AND DANGER

ANALYZING AUTHOR'S ARGUMENT

Answers will vary but should be similar to the following.

Section 2

How the author uses the support to describe warrior culture in youth sports as harmful:

The author reports that experts put some of the blame for cheerleading injuries on warrior culture, a mentality in which winning is more important than anything, and playing through injury is considered "heroic." She writes that "no pain, no gain" has become the "accepted norm" in youth sports. The author shows that "no pain, no gain" is a problem not only for cheerleaders, but for other young athletes as well; she does this by providing hypothetical examples of several types of young athletes—soccer players, volleyball players, and football players—playing with injury.

Section 3

Support from the article:

1. "Instead, Gabby is sharing her hard-learned lessons with others. Last year, she was crowned Miss Teen Minnesota and became a spokesperson for the National Center for Sports Safety. Now she travels the Midwest talking to kids about how to be safe so that no one else will have to suffer the way she has."
2. "In the meantime, Gabby's message to young athletes is simple: 'When your body is hurt, speak up and communicate with a coach, friend, teacher, anyone. You only get one body in life, and you need to honor and respect it.'"

How the author uses the support to share Gabby's message about sports safety:

Gabby Taylor, the author explains, is now a spokesperson for the National Center for Sports Safety. She travels the Midwest talking to kids about how to stay safe. The author shares Gabby's message for other young athletes: "When your body is hurt, speak up and communicate with a coach, friend, teacher, anyone. You only get one body in life, and you need to honor and respect it."

DISCUSSION QUESTIONS

Answers will vary but should be similar to the following:

1. A coping mechanism is a way of thinking or behaving that helps you deal with something difficult. Gabby says that speaking about her injury is her coping mechanism because it gives her something positive to focus on.
2. Gabby is critical of the "no pain, no gain" mentality because this attitude contributed to her injury. Gabby also thinks this mentality leads to repetitive-use injuries. Pushing through pain, Gabby says, is "not worth it."
3. Students may say they learned that Gabby was right-handed and had to learn how to use her left hand; that she has a zipper that she wants to be able to give it "two-handed belly rubs"; and/or that her doctors are skeptical that Gabby will ever regain use of her arm (though she remains hopeful that she will).

4. Answers will vary. The detail about Gabby's need to switch to her left hand could go in the section "Unbearable Pain," Gabby's desire to use both hands to pet her dog, and about her prognosis, would best fit in the last section of the article.
5. Those details may have been less essential to supporting her main points than the details she did include.
6. Yes, the author of "Dazzle and Danger" seems to agree with Gabby that the "no pain, no gain" mentality can be harmful. Gabby believes this mentality makes it harder for kids to speak up when they are hurt. If Gabby had spoken up, she likely would not have sustained as serious an injury. The author connects the "no pain, no gain" mentality to warrior culture, which she says contributes to major injuries because young athletes feel that it's heroic to play through pain.

CHRIS COYNE VIDEO DISCUSSION QUESTIONS

Answers will vary but should be similar to the following:

1. He says that 50 percent of youth football players hide symptoms of their concussions so they can keep playing; he explains post-concussion syndrome; he tells the story of one promising player who had to give up football after suffering his sixth concussion.
2. The symptoms include difficulty with memory, focus, and mood. Chris talks about problems with memory and concentration. He would walk into a room to get a drink and not remember why he was there; he couldn't take notes in class because he couldn't remember what the teacher said long enough to write it down.
3. It is somber and informative. The narrator's voice is serious and the music is sad. The deeply personal narrative is punctuated by powerful statistics about concussions and youth sports.
4. Answers may include: They both suffered

Nonlinear Analysis in Neuroscience and Behavioral Research Tobias A. Mattei,2016-10-31 Although nonlinear dynamics have been mastered by physicists and mathematicians for a long time as most physical systems are inherently nonlinear in nature the recent successful application of nonlinear methods to modeling and predicting several evolutionary ecological physiological and biochemical processes has generated great interest and enthusiasm among researchers in computational neuroscience and cognitive psychology Additionally in the last years it has been demonstrated that nonlinear analysis can be successfully used to model not only basic cellular and molecular data but also complex cognitive processes and behavioral interactions The theoretical features of nonlinear systems such unstable periodic orbits period doubling bifurcations and phase space dynamics have already been successfully applied by several research groups to analyze the behavior of a variety of neuronal and cognitive processes Additionally the concept of strange attractors has lead to a new understanding of information processing which considers higher cognitive functions such as language attention memory and decision making as complex systems emerging from the dynamic interaction between parallel streams of information flowing between highly interconnected neuronal clusters organized in a widely distributed circuit and modulated by key central nodes Furthermore the paradigm of self organization derived from the nonlinear dynamics theory has offered an interesting account of the phenomenon of emergence of new complex cognitive structures from random and non deterministic patterns similarly to what has been previously observed in nonlinear studies of fluid dynamics Finally the challenges of coupling massive amount of data related to brain function generated from new research fields in experimental neuroscience such as magnetoencephalography optogenetics and single cell intra operative recordings of neuronal activity have generated the necessity of new research strategies which incorporate complex pattern analysis as an important feature of their algorithms Up to now nonlinear dynamics has already been successfully employed to model both basic single and multiple neurons activity such as single cell firing patterns neural networks synchronization autonomic activity electroencephalographic measurements and noise modulation in the cerebellum as well as higher cognitive functions and complex psychiatric disorders Similarly previous experimental studies have suggested that several cognitive functions can be successfully modeled with basis on the transient activity of large scale brain networks in the presence of noise Such studies have demonstrated that it is possible to represent typical decision making paradigms of neuroeconomics by dynamic models governed by ordinary differential equations with a finite number of possibilities at the decision points and basic heuristic rules which incorporate variable degrees of uncertainty This e book has include frontline research in computational neuroscience and cognitive psychology involving applications of nonlinear analysis especially regarding the representation and modeling of complex neural and cognitive systems Several experts teams around the world have provided frontline theoretical and experimental contributions as well as reviews perspectives and commentaries in the fields of nonlinear modeling of cognitive systems chaotic dynamics in computational neuroscience fractal analysis of biological brain data nonlinear dynamics in neural networks research nonlinear and fuzzy logics in complex neural systems nonlinear analysis of psychiatric disorders and dynamic modeling of sensorimotor coordination Rather than a comprehensive compilation of the possible topics in neuroscience and cognitive research to which non linear may be used this e book intends to provide some illustrative examples of the broad range of
