Kunzendorf, 1986-05-01 The past 20 years have seen extensive marine exploration work by the major industrialized countries Studies have in part been concentrated on Pacific manganese nodule occurrences and on massive sulfides on mid oceanic ridges An international jurisdictional framework of the sea bed mineral resources was negotiated by the United Nations Conference on the Law of the Sea UNCLOS III A most important outcome of this conference was the establishment of an Exclusive Economic Zone EEZ of at least 200 nautical miles for all coastal states and the recognition of a deep sea regime Mineral deposits in EEZ areas are fairly unknown many areas need detailed mapping and mineral exploration and the majority of coastal or island states with large EEZ areas have little experience in exploration for marine hard minerals This book describes the systematic steps in marine mineral exploration Such exploration requires knowledge of mineral deposits and models of their formation of geophysical and geochemical exploration methods and of data evaluation and interpretation methods These topics are described in detail by an international group of authors A short description is also given of marine research vessels evaluation of marine exploration examples and an overview is provided of the jurisdictional situation after UNCLOS III The Professional Diver's Handbook, 1985 ROV '86: Remotely Operated Vehicles Robert L. Wernli, Roger Chapman, 2012-12-06 There is now an awareness within the industry particularly as oil companies direct considerable resources towards developing diverless production systems that a fully integrated approach to equipment design and intervention is necessary to achieve an acceptable system The requirement for an integrated approach to equipment design and intervention is applicable not only to diverless depths but to all subsea structures equipment and intervention techniques in whatever depth Fortunately the inherent dexterity of the diver does not impact so severely on design as other intervention techniques However the benefits of an integrated approach are still applicable and the use of such simple diver aids as cutting guides and subsea markings installed prior to the installation of jackets and subsea equipment can have a significant impact on the cost of intervention This paper examines the requirements and limitations in designing subsea equipment for Remotely Operated Vehicle ROV intervention For the oil company embarking on the development of a diverless production system be it totally diverless because of the envisaged water depth or primarily diverless with the possibility of diver back up the intervention techniques adopted will strongly influence the final system design The necessity to undertake an extensive development programme to produce the optimum intervention system is very costly requires long lead times and comprehensive testing particularly where novel solutions are adopted It is a daunting prospect for even the most progressive of oil companies
