A Philosophy of Second Language Acquisition Marysia Johnson, 2008-10-01
How does a person learn a second language In this provocative book Marysia Johnson proposes a new model of second language acquisition SLA a model that shifts the focus from language competence the ability to pass a language exam to language performance using language competently in real life contexts Johnson argues that current SLA theory and research is heavily biased in the direction of the cognitive and experimental scientific tradition She shows that most models of SLA are linear in nature and subscribe to the conduit metaphor of knowledge transfer the speaker encodes a message the hearer decodes the sent message Such models establish a strict demarcation between learners mental and social processes Yet the origin of second language acquisition is located not exclusively in the learner s mind but also in a dialogical interaction conducted in a variety of sociocultural and institutional settings says the author Drawing on Vygotsky s sociocultural theory and Bakhtin s literary theory she constructs an alternative framework for second language theory research teaching and testing This approach directs attention toward the investigation of dynamic and dialectical relationships between the interpersonal social plane and the intrapersonal individual plane Johnson s model shifts the focus of SLA away from a narrow emphasis on language competence toward a broader view that encompasses the interaction between language competence and performance Original and controversial A Philosophy of Second Language Acquisition offers an introduction to Vygotsky s sociocultural theory and Bakhtin s literary theory both of which support an alternative framework for second language acquisition an examination of the existing cognitive bias in SLA theory and research a radically new model of second language acquisition DIV DIV Language: Key

Concepts in Philosophy Jose Medina, 2010-07-15 Inquiry into the nature and purpose of language has long been a central concern of Western philosophy within both the analytic Anglo American tradition and its Continental counterpart Language Key Concepts in Philosophy explains and explores the principal ideas theories and debates in the philosophy of language providing a clear and authoritative account of the discipline The text covers the work on language of the major philosophers in both traditions including Frege Wittgenstein Austin Quine Davidson Heidegger Gadamer Derrida and Butler The book equips readers with the requisite philosophical tools to get to grips with central concepts and key issues and raises challenging questions students can then explore on their own Coverage of each issue provides the reader with a full account of the state of the question and a thorough assessment of the arguments entailed in the available literature on that subject Philosophy undergraduates will find this an invaluable aid to study one that goes beyond simple definitions and summaries to really open up fascinating and important ideas and arguments Dialogue in Multilingual and Multimodal

Communities Dale A. Koike, Carl S. Blyth, 2015-07-15 Dialogue in Multilingual and Multimodal Communities contains a collection of new articles that approach the study of dialogue through the construct of the community that is a group of people who come together for any number of reasons e g geographical location a common goal a search for unity or bonding or a particular set of circumstances The authors address a wide range of topics such as dialogic skills as situated practice the learning of culture and the negotiation of identities between native speakers and L2 learners This volume also investigates how native and non native speakers learn various community based aspects of dialogic interaction such as how to interpret social contexts stances frames and gestures Despite different methodologies and frameworks the studies demonstrate that native speakers and L2 learners alike use multiple vocalizations of a language

Applying Language Science to Language Pedagogy José Manuel Igoa, Montserrat Sanz, 2011-12-08 This book establishes a bridge between current research in Linguistics and Psycholinguistics and language pedagogy in the classroom It reformulates the debates about teaching approaches by calling the reader's attention to discoveries about the structure of grammar the universals of language mind processes while comprehending producing and storing language and facts about learning The popularization of L2 teaching brought with it a need to find efficient teaching methods Debates have hinged mainly around the alleged advantages of communicative vs traditional methods However most approaches have their roots in linguistic and psychological theories that have been questioned by language researchers Some language teachers are probably unaware of these advances and to that extent continue to adhere to teaching approaches mainly based on intuitions Consequently evaluating materials may be often performed in rather uninformed circumstances The book contains chapters on relevant issues by leading researchers classified into three main areas The editors contribute a chapter to each of these sections about the implications for second language teaching This book facilitates an approximation between researchers in the theoretical and experimental fields of language and those responsible for innovation in language teaching It is designed so that L2 teachers can adopt and adjust the knowledge drawn from the book to their particular environment and group of students

Thinking Theologically about Language Teaching Cheri L. Pierson, Will Bankston, 2017-08-31 Christians can often overlook the need to bring their daily vocations in accord with the reality created sustained and purposed through Christ This is no less true for language teachers who find themselves at a difficult interdisciplinary crossroads where the paths of linguistics culture and education merge This challenge should not discourage these educators but instead aid them in their journey to form a pedagogy rooted in theological truths from Scripture one that provides a nuanced approach that glorifies God in a manner specific to the language classroom The contributors of this book outline why and how theology must inform teaching methods so that Christian language educators might better serve their students with both faith and excellence thereby pointing them to the communicative God whose image they bear the present state of research into spoken language They address some of the complex and rewarding opportunities offered by these emerging insights for language education and specifically for TESOL They ask whether new data and evidence that spoken discourse is a distinctive genre will challenge existing language theories and teaching What could be the practical outcomes for curriculum teaching approaches materials and assessment A stimulating resource for researchers and for professional and student language teachers

Transcultural Flows of English and Education in Asian Contexts Tyler Andrew Barrett, Melissa Fellin, 2016-10-20 Transcultural Flows of English and Education in Asian Contexts examines issues concerning the potential of English learning and teaching to go beyond the classroom and affect the multicultural realities of Asian societies Asian societies often carry long histories and traditions that influence beliefs about identities which are changing in our globalizing world The authors in this volume explore the synthesis that occurs when culture is shared and re constructed in different contexts Specifically the authors show how English is appropriated and refashioned through language and culture exchanges both inside and outside of traditional classrooms in East Asia i e Japan South Korea China and Southeast Asia e g Indonesia Thailand Inside the classroom transcultural flows have the potential to result in take up exchange appropriation and refashioning of language and cultural practices that can generate transcultural realities outside the classroom Understanding transcultural flows may also require understanding circumstances outside of the classroom for instance transcultural exchanges that lead to friendships and professional relationships as companies embrace English and attempt to reach a global audience as English facilitates access to global interaction in cyberspace and as membership to nation states recognition and identity often confront the politics of English as a global language For both teachers and students of English the impact of transcultural connections reaches far beyond the teaching and learning experience English connects people around the globe even after students and teachers have finished their lessons or teachers have left the country To examine the transcultural flows that result from English learning and teaching in Asia this book addresses the following questions What becomes of English when it is unmoored from local national and regional spaces and imaginatively reconceptualized What are new forms of global consciousness and cultural competency How is English rediscovered and reinvented in Asian countries where there are long traditions of cultural beliefs and language practices How are teachers and students taking up and appropriating English inside and outside classrooms How has English learning and teaching affected social political and business relationships This book will be of interest to scholars in sociolinguistics anthropology and education

Knowing and Not Knowing Claudia Lapping, Tamara Bibby, 2018-02-02 The social world is saturated with powerful formations of knowledge that colonise individual and institutional identities Some knowledge emerges as legitimised and authoritative other knowledge is resisted or repressed Psychosocial approaches highlight the unstable basis of knowledge learning and research of knowing and not knowing How do we come to formulate knowledge in the ways that we do Are there other possible ways of knowing that are too difficult or unsettling for us to begin to explore Do we need the authority of legitimised institutions and regularized methods to build secure knowledge What might it mean to build insecure edifices of knowledge How might we trouble notions of knowledge in processes of teaching learning and research This collection addresses these questions drawing on a range of psychoanalytic and social theory from Bion Freud and Lacan to Derrida Kristeva and Zizek Showcasing work from North America Europe and Japan contributors explore writing as a practice that can stabilise or unsettle subjectivities the unconscious relations between school practices subjectivities educational spaces and ideologies implications of the productive energies and the deadening inwardness associated with mourning and melancholia for formal and informal learning and the authority we invest in apparently rigid or ephemeral institutional spaces Strongly empirical as well as theoretical in approach this collection will be of interest to students and academics seeking ways to resist normative orders of legitimacy and coherence in education and research This book was originally published as a special issue of Pedagogy Culture Society

Blending Spaces Arnd Witte, 2014-10-09 This book comprehensively analyzes the development of interculturally blended third spaces by the second language learner beginning with the linguistic and sociocultural imprints of the first language and culture on the mind and culminating in the proposal of a phase model of the development of intercultural competence The foundational analysis of L1 mediated constructs is followed by an analysis of forms interaction concepts of identity and constructs of culture interculture thus shifting the object of analysis from the subjective to the intersubjective levels of construction and interaction The focus of the book is on the gradual development of interculturally blended third spaces in the mind of the learner as genuinely new bases for construction This book takes an interdisciplinary approach drawing on research in cultural psychology linguistic anthropology critical theory language acquisition and second language learning and shows how culture and interculture need to be emphasized as an integral part of second language learning

Language Skills Halina Chodkiewicz, Magdalena Trepczyńska, 2014-01-14 This volume brings an international perspective to language skills an area of importance to both theorists and practitioners in all contexts of language teaching and learning The twenty seven chapters included here are arranged into six sections devoted to fundamental background issues spoken interaction perception of speech sounds and production skills reading contexts and purposes writing challenges for advanced learners and technology and language skills Explored themes range from the conceptualization of language as skill and the development of L2 skills in communicative and intercultural approaches through challenges in teaching specific skills and their components to the consideration of the possibilities and limitations of the use of modern technology in assisting students in skill acquisition The volume s contributors point to the multiaspectuality of the process of developing language skills with reference to different age groups diverse educational and social contexts as well as instructional activities focusing on isolated and integrated skills The book also includes original empirical studies concerning learning teaching and testing numerous aspects of language skills in L2 attainment The book will be of interest to researchers classroom teachers and specialists in language education philology and applied linguistics as well as to graduate students involved in the study of language skills acquisition and instruction
