Gizmo Warm-up

During photosynthesis, plants use the energy of light to produce glucose ($C_6H_{12}O_6$) from carbon dioxide (CO_2), and water (H_2O). Glucose is a simple sugar that plants use for energy and as a building block for larger molecules.

A by-product of photosynthesis is oxygen. Plants use some of the oxygen they produce, but most of it is released. In the Photosynthesis Lab Gizmo, you can monitor the rate of photosynthesis by measuring oxygen production.

1. Observe the left pane closely. What do you think the bubbles are?

Those Oxygen Bubbles

2. Select the BAR CHART tab. On the graph, notice the Oxygen production bar. Move the Light intensity slider back and forth. How does light intensity affect oxygen production?

Oxygen production decreases with reduced light intensity.

3. Experiment with the vertical Temperature slider (upper left) and the CO₂ level slider.

A. How does temperature affect oxygen production?

When Temperature decreases, Oxygen production decreases.

B. How does CO₂ level affect oxygen production?

C. How does oxygen production relate to the rate of photosynthesis?

Gregory, 1989-10-31 Photosynthesis the capture of light energy by living organisms is a simple enough concept but its investigation draws on the resources of disciplines from all fields of science The aim of this text is to provide a clear stimulating and essentially affordable coverage for undergraduate students of biology The activity of science is debate and practical experiment its product is a body of propositions which at any given time reflects the judgment and prejudices of those taking part The value of a proposition is related to the conceivable alternatives and writing it down without its context creates the false impression that science progresses by compilation of an increasing list of absolute truths It does not the facts and figures presented in the following pages have no intrinsic value unless they can be used by the reader to support an argument or point of view In short the reader is urged to respond So what to every item Secondly ideas like other foods should be date stamped science is inseparable from its history I have set out time charts to represent the evolution of our understanding in certain areas I have assumed that the reader is pursuing a course with a content of biochemistry microbiology and plant science or has access to basic texts I have assumed also that common methods such as spectrophotometry chromatography and electrophoresis as well as the techniques of molecular biology will be either part of the same course or in active use nearby
