OVERVIEW Tactical Combat Casualty Care TCCC was developed to emphasize the need for continued improvement in combat pre hospital care The Committee on Tactical Combat Casualty Care CoTCCC was established in 2001 and is part of the Defense Health Board CoTCCC is a standing multi service committee charged with monitoring medical developments in regards to practice technology pharmacology and doctrine New concepts in hemorrhage control airway management fluid resuscitation analgesia antibiotics and other lifesaving techniques are important steps in providing the best possible care for our Marines and Sailors in combat The TCCC guidelines are published every 4 years in the Prehospital Trauma Life Support manual It has been recognized that TCCC guidelines and curriculum will need to change more often than the 4 year cycle of the PHTLS

textbook publication The National Association of Emergency Medical Technicians NAEMT will include the updated TCCC guidelines and curriculum on its website as they are approved as a way to help get this new information out to the combat medical personnel in the military that need it

PRINCIPLES OF TACTICAL COMBAT CASUALTY CARE TCCC

The principles of Tactical Combat Casualty Care are fundamentally different from those of traditional civilian trauma care where most medical providers and medics train. These differences are based on both the unique patterns and types of wounds that are suffered in combat and the tactical conditions medical personnel face in combat. Unique combat wounds and tactical conditions make it difficult to determine which intervention to perform at what time. Besides addressing a casualty's medical condition, responding medical personnel must also address the tactical problems faced while providing care in combat. A medically correct intervention at the wrong time may lead to further casualties. Put another way, good medicine may be a bad tactical decision which can get the rescuer and the casualty killed. To successfully navigate these issues, medical providers must have skills and training oriented to combat trauma care as opposed to civilian trauma care. The specifics of casualty care in the tactical setting will depend on the tactical situation, the injuries sustained by the casualty, the knowledge and skills of the first responder, and the medical equipment at hand. In contrast to a hospital Emergency Department setting where the patient IS the mission, on the battlefield care of casualties sustained is only PART of the mission. TCCC recognizes this fact and structures its guidelines to accomplish three primary goals:

1. Treat the casualty
2. Prevent additional casualties
3. Complete the mission

In thinking about the management of combat casualties, it is helpful to divide care into three distinct phases, each with its own characteristics and limitations.

SOF Combat Casualty Care Handbook

Combined Arms Center, This handbook was previously distributed as a supplement to the Journal of Special Operations Medicine. The realm of special operations forces (SOF) medicine is a unique and ever-changing one that demands specialized training for our joint SOF. Managing trauma on today's battlefield presents a dynamic array of challenges where limited resources can be rapidly overwhelmed. An austere environment, hostile gunfire, and delays in casualty evacuation (CASEVAC) are the norms for the special operations medic. The material in this handbook was gleaned from special operations medics operating in the Global War on Terrorism and other operational environments. It should not be viewed as a substitute for the professional training and judgment of special operations medics; rather, it is designed to be a hip pocket reference on the tactics, techniques, and procedures (TTP) of SOF-relevant tactical combat casualty care.

Key Lessons

Ninety percent of combat loss of life occurs before casualties ever reach a military treatment facility (MTF). Treatment prior to casualty evacuation is vital. Litter carries are fundamental for good patient care; they prevent further injury and get individuals off target as soon as possible. Rehearse manual carry methods prior to deployment. Every special operations warfighter should carry a tourniquet and be thoroughly familiar with its application. When managing multiple casualties, apply the principles of triage in classifying the priority of treatment and evacuation Rehearse and employ all of the mechanics of CASEVAC from the point of injury to the handover at a MTF This handbook provides a number of considerations when employing medical support to SOF in combat The challenges are numerous but the special operations medic must deliver medical care to save Soldiers lives The collection of TTP in this handbook will enhance the medic s ability to determine the optimum method to deliver casualty survival assistance
