Moral Injury and the American Veteran Richard E. La Fleur, 2024-12-16 Richard E La Fleur's Moral Injury and the American Veteran Finding Meaning in Trauma Guilt and Shame explores how moral injury the collective manifestation of shame and guilt as a result of betrayal and transgression experienced by veterans returning from war deeply affects one's ability to recover from traumatic stressful events and to find meaningfulness in the world La Fleur combines a phenomenological framework with first hand testimonies from veterans experiencing moral injury and post traumatic stress disorder PTSD to deepen the reader's understanding of these life events Through this approach he examines two main ideas 1 moral injury is the main source of guilt and shame experienced by veterans and reduces a person's ability to find meaning in their life or to form meaningful connections with others and 2 moral injury cannot fully be understood through pathology rather it invites an integrative approach to explicate an existential healing process for the sufferer Connecting meaningfulness and the power of lived experiences this book uses a holistic approach to reveal the human condition Moral Injury and the American Veteran is an important resource for psychology scholars religious leaders health care workers practitioners and those who serve our veteran communities

Local Theories of Argument Dale Hamble, 2021-03-25 Argumentation is often understood as a coherent set of Western theories birthed in Athens and developing throughout the Roman period the Middle Ages the Enlightenment and Renaissance and into the present century Ideas have been nuanced developed and revised but still the outline of argumentation theory has been recognizable for centuries or so it has seemed to Western scholars The 2019 Alta Conference on Argumentation co sponsored by the National Communication Association and the American Forensic Association aimed to question the generality of these intellectual traditions This resulting collection of essays deals with the possibility of having local theories of argument local to a particular time a particular kind of issue a particular place or a particular culture Many of the papers argue for reconsidering basic ideas about arguing to represent the uniqueness of some moment or location of discourse Other scholars are more comfortable with the Western traditions and find them congenial to the analysis of arguments that originate in discernibly distinct circumstances The papers represent different methodologies cover the experiences of different nations at different times examine varying sorts of argumentative events speeches court decisions food choices and sound explore particular personal identities and the issues highlighted by them and have different overall orientations to doing argumentation scholarship Considered together the essays do not generate one simple conclusion but they stimulate reflection about the particularity or generality of the experience of arguing and therefore the scope of our theories
