Wagner,2018-09-03 As the older population in the United States is becoming more racially and ethnically diverse it is important to understand the characteristics the potential and the needs of this population In this new and fully revised edition of Aging and Diversity Chandra Mehrotra and Lisa Wagner address key topics in diversity and aging discussing how the aging experience is affected by not only race and ethnicity but also gender religious affiliation social class rural urban community location and sexual orientation and gender identity Taking this broad view of human diversity allows the authors to convey some of the rich complexities facing our aging population complexities that provide both challenges to meet the needs of a diverse population of elders and opportunities to learn how to live in a pluralistic society Mehrotra and Wagner present up to date knowledge and scholarship about aging and diversity in a way that engages readers in active learning placing ongoing emphasis on developing readers knowledge and skills fostering higher order thinking and encouraging exploration of personal values and attitudes A Conflicted View of Telehomecare After a 20 Year Journey A.P.

Glascok,2012-11-28 Telehomecare systems have been in existence in one form or another for at least a decade At the outset the concept seemed to promise both a solution to controlling rising health care costs and a means of delivering the improved care which would enable the elderly to stay in their own homes for longer but although it received enthusiastic support from governments and care professionals as well as the commercial sector adoption within a given community has not yet been achieved and overall success has been limited at best This book addresses the question of why despite the investment of so much time money and effort Telehomecare is not more widely used than it is The author describes his 20 years of experience in the field as a journey which started with a concern over his mother s health and ended with himself and a colleague selling a series of patents to General Electric Drawing on his experiences as an inventor entrepreneur businessman implementer and researcher he conducts a frank and thorough consideration of what has gone wrong and offers an unflinching set of suggestions as to how to make it right Telehomecare must become more than just a passive emergency response system if it is to have any chance of achieving its full potential The analysis offered by this book will be of interest to all those whose work involves the development or implementation of Telehomecare systems Making the Golden Years Golden Eva
