Writing Philosophy Papers Zachary Seech, Andrew Kania, 2024-08-28 This sixth edition of Writing Philosophy Papers updates and expands one of the most popular guides to philosophical writing assignments for undergraduate students. Written in a clear straightforward style the book covers everything from time management to the difference between i.e. and e.g. The heart of the book is devoted to how to write a thesis defense paper with chapters on the structure of a strong paper, the process of writing and revising, matters of style and usage, and scholarly citation. This advice is illustrated with concrete examples throughout, including a complete thesis defense paper written and formatted according to the book's recommendations. The book also covers how to take good notes from various kinds of philosophical sources, how to write other commonly assigned kinds of papers, and how to study for and take a philosophy exam. A chapter on doing philosophical research contains practical advice on how to discover and access the most helpful sources for a philosophical research paper or annotated bibliography. Because virtually every philosophy assignment requires a basic grasp of arguments, the book ends with a chapter introducing some basic concepts and skills for reasoning well. The heart of the sixth edition has been revised and restructured to lead students even more clearly through the process of drafting, revising, and formatting a thesis defense paper. This new edition also includes an updated, completely revised, and expanded chapter on citing sources, giving equal consideration to print and online sources; an updated, completely revised, and expanded chapter on doing philosophical research, focused on how to find the most helpful sources for completing a philosophical research paper or annotated bibliography; updated, revised, and greatly expanded advice on writing style and usage; a completely revised and expanded treatment of good reasoning, with a new discussion of inductive and abductive reasoning; and new advice on how to take good notes and how to study for and take philosophy exams.

Qualitative Research Methods in Education and Educational Technology Jerry W. Willis, 2008-10-01 Qualitative Research Methods in Education and Educational Technology was written for students and scholars interested in exploring the many qualitative methods developed over the last 50 years in the social sciences. The book does not stop, however, at the boundaries of the social sciences. Social scientists now consume and use research methods from many fields. The rich resources of research methods and theories from both the humanities and philosophy are also covered in this book. It explains why postpositivist quantitative research should not be the only game in town and provides solid theoretical foundations, beginning with the positions of Plato and Aristotle, for broadening our horizons about what warrants our attention. Using Aristotle's concept of phronesis, the author shows why methods such as narrative research and storytelling, hermeneutic inquiry, literary theory, philosophical inquiry, and much more, have important applications in education and educational technology. On those foundations, the author also builds a framework for doing many types of research, from participatory action research to content analysis to postmodern case studies to empowerment research and philosophical inquiry. He accomplishes this through a combination of original text summaries of exemplary research in education and educational technology and suggested readings that are annotated and introduced at the end of each chapter Many of these readings are available online and they extend the discussion of research methods or serve as exemplars of a particular type of educational technology research There are open ended and conceptual questions for each reading and developing your own answers to them is one way you can extend your depth of understanding about qualitative research methods in education and educational technology

Contemporary Natural Philosophy and Philosophies - Part 2 Marcin J. Schroeder, Gordana Dodig-Crnkovic, 2020-11-19 Modern technology has eliminated barriers posed by geographic distances between people around the globe making the world more interdependent However in spite of global collaboration within research domains fragmentation among research fields persists and even escalates Disintegrated knowledge has become subservient to the competition in the technological and economic race leading in the direction chosen not by reason and intellect but rather by the preferences of politics and markets To restore the authority of knowledge in guiding humanity we have to reconnect its scattered isolated parts and offer an evolving and diverse but shared vision of objective reality connecting the sciences and other knowledge domains and informed by and in communication with ethical and esthetic thinking and being This collection of articles responds to the second call from the journal Philosophies to build a new networked world of knowledge with domain specialists from different disciplines interacting and connecting with the rest of the knowledge producing and knowledge consuming communities in an inclusive extended natural philosophic human centric manner In this process of reconnection scientific and philosophical investigations enrich each other with sciences informing philosophies about the best current knowledge of the world both natural and human made while philosophies scrutinize the ontological epistemological and methodological foundations of sciences
