Born to Be Wild Hattie Garlick, 2016-06-02. Want to save cash your child's imagination and possibly even the planet. This is the book you need. Packed with great photos of real families in the outdoors. Born to Be Wild contains easy to follow instructions for activities that require nothing more sophisticated than a small person's imagination and access to a little outdoor space. Nature lays on magical materials for free each season from fallen leaves and twigs, moulted feathers, sand and shells to mud puddles and rain. Everything else you'll need for these activities is already hiding in your cupboards at home. No expensive art supplies or outward bound kit required. All you need are the toolkit items at the front of the book: ordinary household essentials like scraps of paper, string, glue, recycled food containers and an empty jar or two. Along the way Hattie talks to families, organisations and communities who have rebuilt their relationships with nature with extreme or inspiring results and she introduces scientists, psychologists and other experts who explain why, as modern families, we should revive our waning relationships with nature whatever age or stage we're at. Review of Activities, 1958. In Teaching on a Shoestring An A to Z of everyday objects to enthuse and engage children and extend learning in the early years. Russell Grigg and Helen Lewis explore the educational value of familiar objects and suggest practical activities to help develop young learners' cross-curricular skills. We take many everyday objects for granted. But in a time of ever-tightening school budgets, these objects can be invaluable in affording low-cost, high-impact opportunities for learning. With these value-for-money principles in mind, Russell and Helen have packed this practical A to Z handbook to the brim with fun facts, inspiring ideas and exciting activities to help teachers make the best use of familiar objects as launch pads for effective learning. Underpinned by solid theory, Teaching on a Shoestring investigates the learning potential of twenty-six inexpensive, readily available resources from apples to ice cubes to zebra patterned fabric and shows how they can be exploited to develop in young learners the four skills widely regarded as essential in the twenty-first century: communication, collaboration, critical thinking and creativity. The book is organised into two parts covering theory then practice In Part 1 the authors examine the nature of an object rich learning environment and discuss the benefits of enquiry based learning in which the emphasis is upon promoting collaboration dialogue and higher order thinking in real world contexts In Part 2 the learning opportunities around the twenty six objects are laid out in detail to illustrate how they can be put into practice While the book focuses on object based pedagogy employed with the under sevens age category many of the principles can also be applied with older children There is a common format for the enquiry into each object arranged into the following sections In a nutshell key background information about the object in its broader context Did you know interesting facts about the object Ready key vocabulary resources and health and safety factors to consider Steady learning goals and intentions Go activities which show how teachers can develop the four skills of communication collaboration critical thinking and creativity around the object Other ideas follow up cross curricular ideas and Find out more websites and other references for further information Suitable for early years educators and anyone who works with young children
