Interest Groups in Soviet Politics Harold Gordon Skilling, Franklyn Griffiths, 2019-03-12 It is now generally agreed that since Stalin's death there has been a definite broadening of group participation in policy formation and implementation. The contributors to this volume analyze seven elite political interest groups at the upper and middle levels of the Soviet social structure. Originally published in 1971, The Princeton Legacy Library uses the latest print on demand technology to again make available previously out of print books from the distinguished backlist of Princeton University Press. These editions preserve the original texts of these important books while presenting them in durable paperback and hardcover editions. The goal of the Princeton Legacy Library is to vastly increase access to the rich scholarly heritage found in the thousands of books published by Princeton University Press since its founding in 1905.

Interest Group Politics Allan J. Cigler, Burdett A. Loomis, Anthony J. Nownes, 2019-11-12 Interest Group Politics is the only comprehensive collection of articles on interest groups and lobbying written for undergraduates. The tenth edition offers 15 new contributions on a variety of topics including classic analyses of how groups organize and seek to affect public policy, emerging trends such as the growth of transgender groups, and fresh studies that examine how lobbying has evolved in the Trump era. No other text or reader provides the breadth of coverage or the strength of detail in exploring the world of organized interests from their internal structure to their electoral politics to their lobbying activities. The talented scholars in this edition, like those in previous volumes, continue to seek answers to a host of questions: as to how groups evolve, how they compete with similar groups, how they influence elections, and how they lobby across a wide range of issues.

The Analytic Hierarchy Process in Natural Resource and Environmental Decision Making Daniel L. Schmoldt, 2001-06-30 Decision making in land management involves preferential selection among competing alternatives Often such choices are difficult owing to the complexity of the decision context Because the analytic hierarchy process AHP developed by Thomas Saaty in the 1970s has been successfully applied to many complex planning resource allocation and priority setting problems in business energy health marketing natural resources and transportation more applications of the AHP in natural resources and environmental sciences are appearing regularly This realization has prompted the authors to collect some of the important works in this area and present them as a single volume for managers and scholars Because land management contains a somewhat unique set of features not found in other AHP application areas such as site specific decisions group participation and collaboration and incomplete scientific knowledge this text fills a void in the literature on management science and decision analysis for forest resources have not consolidated our understanding of these actors These analyses have been subject to the vagaries of different theoretical perspectives and vary greatly in their conceptual and methodological frameworks Consequently a not always complementary and fragmented series of findings has emerged This book is a systematic and comprehensive effort at investigating and integrating the state of the art in European interest group research Combining the analysis of interest group politics in the EU with the comparative study of interest organizations the book seeks to identify the areas about which there is consolidated knowledge that are marked by controversies in which considerable uncertainty exists that have been omitted from research programs and that ought to be part of future studies Thereby it provides a general reflection on how the study of interest group politics can be improved by linking it to the comparative study of governance This book was published as a special issue of West European Politics      Steering a Course between Friends and Foes Caelesta Poppelaars, 2009
