Kinds of Parody from the Medieval to the Postmodern Nil Korkut, 2009 This book approaches parody as a literary form that has assumed diverse forms and functions throughout history The author handles this diversity by classifying parody according to its objects of imitation and specifying three major parodic kinds parody directed at texts and personal styles parody directed at genre and parody directed at discourse The book argues that different literary historical periods in Britain have witnessed the prevalence of different kinds of parody and investigates the reasons underlying this phenomenon All periods from the Middle Ages to the present are considered in this regard but a special significance is given to the postmodern age where parody has become a widely produced literary form The book contends further that postmodern parody is primarily discourse parody a phenomenon which can be explained through the major concerns of postmodernism as a movement In addition to situating parody and its kinds in a historical context this book engages in a detailed analysis of parody in the postmodern age preparing the ground for making an informed assessment of the direction parody and its kinds may take in the near future

The Virgin of Bennington Kathleen Norris, 2002-04-02 Shy and sheltered as a young woman Kathleen Norris wasn't prepared for the sex drugs and bohemianism of Bennington College in the late 1960s and when she moved to New York City after graduation it was a case of out of the frying pan and into the fire In this chronicle Norris remembers the education she received both formal and fortuitous the influence of her mentor Betty Kray who shunned the spotlight while serving as a guiding force in the poetry world of the late 20th century her encounters with such figures as James Merrill Jim Carroll Denise Levertov Stanley Kunitz Patti Smith and Erica Jong and her eventual decision to leave Manhattan for the less crowded landscape she described so memorably in Dakota This account of the making of a young writer will resonate with anyone who has stumbled bravely into a bigger world and found the poetry that lurks on rooftops and in railroad apartments and with anyone who has enjoyed the blessings of inspiring teachers and great friends
