

How to learn things about yourself

9 TIPS TO BUILD SELF-AWARENESS

1. Self-reflection

Reflect on what happened at the end of every day, and show kindness and compassion to yourself.

2. Intention

Be genuine and objective when building knowledge on your own character. It's like facing a mirror to your inner self only you can see. You are safe.

3. Journal

Keep track of your reflection, goals, achievements and findings in a notebook to go back to them later and see your progress.

4. Meditation

Practice meditation and mindful exercises every day to be more in the present and notice thoughts and emotions as they come.

5. Friends

Ask people you trust, family members and close friends, for their opinion. Share your personal journey and welcome their input to add on to it.

6. Feedback

Ask for constructive feedback (positive and negative) to your colleagues and manager - and listen to it actively. Then work on it.

7. Questionnaires

Take personality tests & behavioural assessments to understand your personal preferences, inclinations and how you relate to others.

8. Support

Get support from a professional (a therapist or a coach, depending on what you want to discuss) to further develop your self-discovery.

9. Learn

Go out of your comfort zone to challenge what you already know. Learn what works and what doesn't, and adjust your actions accordingly.

Self Awareness Activity Guide

Self Awareness Activity Guide:

The Emotional Intelligence in Action Activities Guide Marcia Hughes, Amy Miller, 2010-11-01 Emotional Intelligence has been proven to be key to leadership success. In this book, EI expert Marcia Hughes provides a broad array of activities for developing EI in both the coaching and team environment. All of these activities have stood the test of time and will help trainers at all levels engage the learner in active experiential learning. Additionally, there are introductions to each activity that provide tips and techniques that will ensure success every time. The activities are organized with separate sections for individual coaching and team development.

The Leadership Training Activity Book Lois Borland Hart, Charlotte S. Waisman, 2005 Leadership development is self development. The quest for leadership is first an inner quest to discover who you are. That is clearly the premise of this wonderful collection of developmental activities. They guide learners on that fascinating journey of self awareness and self confidence that can only come from experiencing something in themselves for themselves. From the foreword by James M. Kouzes, co-author of The Leadership Challenge. When it comes to preparing a new generation of leaders, trainers have their work cut out for them. In addition to being a critical competency in itself, the task of leadership necessarily involves mastering a whole host of other skills, and it's up to you as a trainer to keep participants engaged and active throughout the learning process. The Leadership Training Activity Book is a collection of engaging, sure-fire exercises based on the best, most up-to-date learning theory for preparing the leaders of tomorrow. The book features easily adaptable modules designed for beginning to advanced skill levels, short or long sessions, and large or small groups. You'll find the perfect training exercises to help new and experienced leaders improve their understanding of crucial topics such as trust, values, networking, conflict resolution, diversity, negotiation, listening skills, mentoring, vision, communication, and more. The Leadership Training Activity Book provides trainers with a wide range of activities to help teach and apply the most critical leadership competencies participants need, enabling you to develop and liberate the leadership qualities learners already have within themselves. It is a unique collection of proven exercises that will elicit the best from those who wish to lead.

The Emotional Intelligence Activity Book Adele Lynn, 2001-12-26 We've all heard of IQ, but what's EQ? It's Emotional Quotient, aka Emotional Intelligence, and experts say that EQ is a greater predictor of success at work than IQ. Companies are increasingly looking for ways to motivate and develop their employees' emotional intelligence. This book presents trainers and coaches with 50 innovative exercises to be used for either individuals or groups. The activities found in the book are grouped according to the various core competencies associated with Emotional Intelligence: Self Awareness and Control, an awareness of one's values, emotions, skills, and drives, and the ability to control one's emotional responses; Empathy, an understanding of how others perceive situations; Social Expertness, the ability to build relationships based on an assumption of human equality; Mastery of Vision, the development and communication of a personal philosophy. The book also includes suggested training combinations and coaching tips.
