Research and Development Abstracts ,1981 Training Behaviour Therapists (Psychology Revivals) Derek Milne,2015-03-27 Originally published in 1986 one of the major developments in behavioural psychotherapy and mental health in the previous decade had been the growing involvement of non psychologists in behaviour therapy This was a result of the fact that there were too few psychologists to cope with problem behaviour and that other professionals or carers began to appreciate more clearly their potential as agents of behaviour change Foremost among these mediators of therapy were parents nurses particularly psychiatric nurses and teachers especially remedial teachers Their involvement had greatly increased the efficiency of behaviour therapy at the time and opened up a new era in applied psychology It also entailed the development of new training formats evaluation procedures and implementation strategies The main aim of this book was to provide a summary of the research relevant to these issues and to offer practical guidelines to those who were interested in training or being trained as behaviour therapists For this reason there are chapters by researchers who have been involved in training parents nurses and teachers These chapters provide a detailed account of training in a form that was rarely available in published form at the time and even today should be of great assistance to readers Child Abuse and Neglect Research ,1979 Programming Effective Human Services Walter Christian,2012-12-06 Human service programming has been the focus of much public scrutiny legislative action and applied research in recent years As a result human service providers have learned to exhibit greater respect for the needs and legal rights of their consumers the appropriateness and cost effectiveness of treatment procedures and service programs and the personnel and facilities involved in providing services to consumers Despite this encouraging trend many human service agencies are still trying unsuccessfully to meet the two fundamental criteria of effective programming 1 providing services that are effective in meeting the needs of the consumer and 2 equipping consumers to function independently of the human service system to the extent possible For example there appears to be a general acceptance of the notion that custodial institutional service programs are needed despite the fact that they are ineffective in rehabilitating and transitioning clients to the community and that they are difficult to change In addition although community based service programs have been developed as alternatives to institutional placement there is rarely sufficient transitional planning and programming to facilitate the client's progress from the institution to the community Although these problems generally are acknowledged most human service managers and practitioners are ill equipped to deal with them Specifically the technology of human service management is in need of improvement It is more theoretical than practical and it lacks sufficient field testing and empirical validation

The Handbook of Social Work and Social Development in Africa Mel Gray, 2016-10-26 All recent books on international social work mention Africa only briefly and few engage with the broader field of development studies This book focuses solely on the unique African context engaging with issues relating to social work and development more broadly thus enabling a deeper examination and more complex and nuanced picture to emerge Unlike most academic works this book highlights multiple practitioner voices with authors or co authors that have recently been or are currently practising social workers As an edited book it draws from both academic research as well as lived practice experience supported by strong theoretical positioning and guidance in introductory chapters drawing on African literature wherever possible Looking at case studies from Lesotho Botswana Kenya Zimbabwe Ethiopia Namibia Uganda Nigeria Kenya South Africa Rwanda Zambia and Tanzania and covering established areas of practice such as child protection working with older people working with people with disabilities mental health and mainstream services targeting women as well as emerging areas of developmental social work practice such as humanitarian assistance in post conflict situations work with immigrants and refugees and the training of community based workers this book takes a future oriented perspective that aims to move beyond well worn critiques to envision constructive and sustainable futures for social work and social development in Africa from a critical perspective Home Health Aide
