St. Louis, MO 63101

Subject: Request for Parole Consideration

Dear Members of the Parole Board,

I hope this letter finds you well. My name is [YOUR NAME], and I am writing to formally request consideration for parole regarding my upcoming review scheduled for November 20, 2050. I have taken significant steps during my time of incarceration to address the issues that led to my imprisonment and to prepare myself for reintegration into society.

Throughout my sentence, I have actively participated in various rehabilitation programs, including vocational training in carpentry and substance abuse counseling. These experiences have not only equipped me with valuable skills but have also fostered a deep understanding of my past actions and their impact on others. I have received positive evaluations from my instructors and counselors, which I believe demonstrate my commitment to personal growth.

Furthermore, I have maintained good behavior throughout my incarceration, and I have developed a strong support network outside of prison. My family, including my mother, Jean Harris, has been a constant source of encouragement, and I have included letters of support from them as part of this request. They are committed to assisting me as I transition back into the community and have provided assurances regarding my living arrangements and employment opportunities.

I understand the importance of public safety and the responsibilities that come with being granted parole. I assure you that I have learned from my past mistakes and am dedicated to making positive contributions to society moving forward.

I kindly request that you consider my application favorably. Thank you for your time and consideration. I look forward to the opportunity to present my case in person during the upcoming hearing.

Sincerely,

[YOUR NAME]

I-25, Las Vegas Bypass New Contruction ,1973 The Prisoner's Release Keith Soothill, 2023-10-25 For well over one hundred years society had considered ways of helping prisoners on their release from prison but there had been no serious attempt to assess in a scientific manner the value of such efforts Originally published in 1974 this book broke with this tradition and was the first full scale work published in this country evaluating carefully whether an active policy of finding suitable employment for men immediately on their release from prison had beneficial results The first part of the book discusses the historical development of prison after care from its early origins in the nineteenth century and indicates how up to the Second World War the primary object of after care had been regarded as the reinstatement of the ex prisoners in employment Gradually the specific task of finding jobs for ex prisoners had become a peripheral activity considered as the responsibility of the Department of Employment The effectiveness of the Department s pre release procedure for prisoners is discussed The rest of the book considers the fascinating Apex project set up to examine the effectiveness of finding work for ex prisoners The work of Apex continued to develop and expand but the present study considers the first five years when over four hundred men were randomly selected from two London prisons and offered the services of a specialist employment agency The outcome for these men is compared with a control group of over three hundred men randomly selected from the same prisons This study is concerned with the general run of the prison population and interestingly shows how some prisoners accept and others reject the offer of an employment service It further indicates the enormous efforts sometimes needed to find suitable employment for prisoners on release The outcome of the job interviews arranged in terms of the proportions attending the interviews starting the jobs and the length of time men stayed in the jobs arranged is vital reading for anyone involved in after care An important part of the work is the examination of the subsequent reconviction rates for the various groups of offenders and the implication that it seems possible to predict men who are unlikely to be helped by the simple provision of employment on release The final chapter considers critically some of the assumptions upon which the Apex project was based and the possible use of computer techniques in the individualization of treatment is briefly discussed

The author was particularly well qualified to discuss this subject for apart from his work over a number of years with several after care organizations the present project involved working in prisons for over three years as well as interviewing and talking to men after their release The findings of this study will interest the wide variety of people concerned with prison after care Criminologists sociologists probation officers and all others working in prisons and after care will recognize the important implications of the material presented in this book Employee Retirement Income Security Act United States.
