9 TIPS TO BUILD SELF-AWARENESS

1. Self-reflection

Reflect on what happened at the end of every day, and show kindness and compassion to yourself.

2. Intention

Be genuine and objective when building knowledge on your own character. It's like facing a mirror to your inner self only you can see. You are safe.

3. Journal

Keep track of your reflection, goals, achievements and findings in a notebook to go back to them later and see your progress.

4. Meditation

Practice meditation and mindful exercises every day to be more in the present and notice thoughts and emotions as they come.

5. Friends

Ask people you trust, family members and close friends, for their opinion. Share your personal journey and welcome their input to add on to it.

6. Feedback

Ask for constructive feedback (positive and negative) to your colleagues and manager - and listen to it actively. Then work on it.

7. Questionnaires

Take personality tests & behavioural assessments to understand your personal preferences, inclinations and how you relate to others.

8. Support

Get support from a professional (a therapist or a coach, depending on what you want to discuss) to further develop your self-discovery.

9. Learn

Go out of your comfort zone to challenge what you already know. Learn what works and what doesn't, and adjust your actions accordingly.

The Emotional Intelligence Activity Book Adele Lynn, 2001-12-26 We've all heard of IQ, but what's EQ? It's Emotional Quotient, aka Emotional Intelligence, and experts say that EQ is a greater predictor of success at work than IQ. Companies are increasingly looking for ways to motivate and develop their employees' emotional intelligence. This book presents trainers and coaches with 50 innovative exercises to be used for either individuals or groups. The activities found in the book are grouped according to the various core competencies associated with Emotional Intelligence: Self-Awareness and Control (an awareness of one's values, emotions, skills, and drives, and the ability to control one's emotional responses); Empathy (an understanding of how others perceive situations); Social Expertness (the ability to build relationships based on an assumption of human equality); Mastery of Vision (the development and communication of a personal philosophy). The book also includes suggested training combinations and coaching tips.
