the current frontiers of nuclear physics research the topic Nuclear Equation of State occupies the pivotal position The present series of lectures by well known experts in this field span a wide area ranging from low energy to ultrarelativistic energy with application to astrophysical phenomena like supernovae explosions neutron star and other stellar processes phase transitions in quantum chromodynamics and properties of quark gluon plasma The present status of the VUU model for the intermediate energy heavy ion collisions is also reviewed Today's Nuclear Equation , The Nuclear Equation of State ,1986 Nuclear Equation of State Studied with High-energy Heavy Ions ,1981 The current knowledge and theoretical speculations concerning the nuclear equation of state is discussed Conventional relativistic nuclear fluid dynamics which is based on the assumption that the nucleon mean free path is zero and consequently neglects the interpenetration of the target and projectile upon contact is also discussed Results of such calculations performed for three different equations of state are compared with experimental data for both all impact parameters and central collisions for the reaction $2\text{ Ne }^{238}\text{U}$ at a laboratory bombarding energy per nucleon of 393 MeV These comparisons suggest that we need to take into account target and projectile interpenetration which is done on the basis of a two fluid model An assessment of the present status and future prospects for determining the nuclear equation of state with high energy heavy ions is given WHK The Nuclear Equation of State, General Relativity, and Supernovae Explosions ,1985 Nuclear Equation of State, General Relativity and Supernovae Explosions ,1985 Prompt explosions are obtained in hydrodynamic simulations for the 12 Msub solar and 15 Msub solar type II supernova initial models of Weaver and Woosley when the nuclear equation of state is sufficiently soft and when general relativity is included 12 refs Nuclear Matter Equation of State from Relativistic Heavy Ions to Supernovae ,1986 In this presentation the relationship between relativistic nucleus nucleus collisions and the nuclear equation of state is discussed The connection between observables measured in the experiments and thermodynamic variables used to describe the system is made Through this connection a semi empirical nuclear equation of state is extracted from the data The resulting equation of state is discussed in terms of nuclear matter calculations neutron star stability and supernova collapse 22 refs 7 figs What can we learn on the nuclear equation of state from the inversion of the flow in heavy-ion reactions ?.
