Practical Farm Ideas Quarterly ,1996 Farm Mechanization and Buildings ,1967 Social Bodies Helen Lambert, Maryon McDonald, 2009-03-01 A proliferation of press headlines social science texts and ethical concerns about the social implications of recent developments in human genetics and biomedicine have created a sense that at least in European and American contexts both the way we treat the human body and our attitudes towards it have changed This volume asks what really happens to social relations in the face of new types of transaction such as organ donation forensic identification and other new medical and reproductive technologies that involve the use of corporeal material Drawing on comparative insights into how human biological material is treated it aims to consider how far human bodies and their components are themselves inherently social The case studies ranging from animal human transformations in Amazonia to forensic reconstruction in post conflict Serbia and the treatment of Native American specimens in English museums all underline that without social relations there are no bodies but only human remains The volume gives us new and striking ethnographic insights into bodies as sociality as well as a potentially powerful analytical reconsideration of notions of embodiment It makes a novel contribution too to science and society debates

The Transplant Imaginary Lesley A. Sharp,2014 In The Transplant Imaginary author Lesley Sharp explores the extraordinarily surgically successful realm of organ transplantation which is plagued worldwide by the scarcity of donated human parts a quandary that generates ongoing debates over the marketing of organs as patients die waiting for replacements These widespread anxieties within and beyond medicine over organ scarcity inspire seemingly futuristic trajectories in other fields Especially prominent longstanding and promising domains include xenotransplantation or efforts to cull fleshy organs from animals for human use and bioengineering a field peopled with tinkers intent on designing implantable mechanical devices where the heart is of special interest Scarcity suffering and sacrifice are pervasive and seemingly inescapable themes that frame the transplant imaginary Xenotransplant experts and bioengineers at work in labs in five Anglophone countries share a marked determination to eliminate scarcity and human suffering certain that their efforts might one day altogether eliminate any need for parts of human origin A premise that drives Sharp s compelling ethnographic project is that high stakes experimentation inspires moral thinking informing scientists determination to redirect the surgical trajectory of transplantation and ultimately alter the integrity of the human form
