

Reflection Paper: Study of Interpersonal Communication

Throughout the semester I discovered, learned, and applied different set of skills and advice to my communication skills. I learned my strong points and low points in my skills, which let me know where I could improve in these areas also. During the semester I learned many things about myself that I didn't know had specific meaning in terms of communication. For example I realized that I am an extrovert when it comes to my personality type.

I never realized until I learned the term in class and started paying attention to it when I was around my friends. I noticed that when I'm in a big group partaking in any sort of activity such as playing basketball, going out to eat ,or simply just hanging out, I feed off my friends energy. Giving me an energy surplus when I am around my friends socially interacting. I believe my best skills as a communicator is my ability to show or feel empathy for people when they are going through and emotional situation.

I can relate to them solely based on what they are going through and not being prejudice to that person based on how they look. By having these skills it lets me be a good communicator and helps me communicate much more easily with people I don't know. Allowing myself to feel for them gives me an open mind and makes it much easier to communicate with other people. A skill I would like to work on is improving my self-awareness, in terms of having less self-awareness of myself.

I believe I do a pretty good job of trying to be less self aware because I believe that the more self aware you are of yourself whether it being subjective, objective, or symbolic self awareness the harder it is for you to communicate with other people simply because you are too busy worrying about yourself and how you identify yourself that it limits the amount and the way you communicate with others. I believe the less self aware I become of myself the easier it would be to communicate with anyone and it would allow myself to become an even greater and smoother communicator.

Overall the activities of the class where good in the sense of getting to know one another in the class, they were activities that made you open up to people and show and emotional side of yourself that doesn't always come out or hardly share with other people. Although the activities may seem simple they make you communicate and actually put to use the things we learned in the lecture, which helped me a ot to have a better understanding of the curriculum. Overall I believe Comm 110 really gave me a good understanding of the study of communication and showed me what is it to actually study and understand the Study of interpersonal communication. I am grateful for taking this class because it helped me realize my strong and low points in my communication with others and helped me learn as to what skills I am good at and which ones I need working on.

Classroom Communication and Diversity Robert G. Powell, Dana L. Powell, 2010-06-10

Classroom Communication and Diversity is an integral resource for teaching awareness of diversity issues and communication in the classroom. Drawing on the research in the communication and education disciplines, authors Robert G. Powell and Dana Caseau provide theoretical models and useful strategies for improving instructional practices. They address the ways in which culture influences communication in the classroom and assist teachers in developing the skills necessary to meet the needs of the students in their classrooms. New to the second edition is an expanded skills component, additional teaching resources and an increased focus on the role of diversity in the classroom. Much of the information shared in this text derives from the authors' research and experience in schools and from the experiences of others, including teachers, parents and children. Their experiences combined with the cross-disciplinary approach produce a volume of unique perspectives and considerable insight.

The Life of Voices B. Hannah Rockwell, 2011-04-26

The Life of Voices illustrates how human voices have special significance as the place where mind and body collaborate to produce everyday speech. Hannah Rockwell links Russian semiotician Mikhail Bakhtin's philosophy of dialogue with French phenomenologist Maurice Merleau-Ponty's views of the relation between bodies and speech expression to develop a unique theory of communication and bodies. By introducing readers to actual human subjects speaking about how their identities have been shaped and transformed through time the author explores how discourses reproduce ideology and social power relations Readers are challenged to consider complex influences between human subjects and institutionalized discourses through critical interpretive analyses of transcribed speech The Life of Voices has an interdisciplinary flair grounded in careful research Scholars in communication sociology philosophy psychology linguistics anthropology gender studies and identity politics will find valuable insights methods and examples in this work It is essential reading for anyone who is interested in discourse studies and the body's relationship to speech or human identity formation
