Information Systems Development for Emerging Public Sector Cross-sector Collaborations Kayvan Yousefi Mojir, 2018-09-28 Information systems IS seem prevalent in modern societies and have resulted in the rapid digitalisation of different societal sectors One application domain of IS is emergency response which is responsible for delivering essential services to save lives and minimise environmental damage in both small frequent and large scale emergencies Specific IS applications are in turn used in emergency response to support such aspects as decision making communication information sharing and the dispatching of resources Public sector cut backs and a lack of professional resources have affected emergency response at the same time as natural disasters e.g. forest fires tsunamis storms terror attacks and wars in the Middle East leading to mass migration have intensified in recent decades At the same time frequent small scale accidents continue to occur on a regular basis both in urban and sparsely populated areas As a result emergency response actors first responders are often placed under severe pressure An emerging trend in response to these challenges both in Sweden and internationally is to create cross sector forms of collaboration by combining alternative resources from various sectors Such collaborations are relatively new and involve heterogeneous stakeholders Therefore the thesis objective is to explore IS related opportunities challenges and needs aimed at supporting heterogeneous actors in emerging cross sector collaborations in emergency response in order to enable and facilitate future related IS development To achieve this a user centred approach was applied A baseline study was performed followed by three case studies on co location of actors co operative use of resources and semi professionals as first responders by performing interviews focus groups participant observation Future Workshops an exercise and an after action review The thesis is based on case study research and qualitative research methods Sociotechnical systems theory the sociotechnical ensemble view and network governance were used as the analytical framework As part of achieving the thesis objectives experiences from applying user participation in the context of cross sector collaboration are also presented as part of the results A context specific framework developed to systematise and explore various important aspects of cross sector collaboration in emergency response is also described The results of this thesis indicate that the needs for IS in cross sector collaborations vary from simple smartphone applications to manage alarms positioning and the dispatching of new resources to more sophisticated tools for sharing and viewing incident data The results also indicate that these collaborations have the potential e g resource redundancy pooled competencies to increase total capacity to improve Swedish emergency response if supported by adequate IS IT support The major challenges are organisational economic and juridical and the most prominent are ambiguities in actors tasks and responsibilities and how to prioritise between ordinary work and new first response tasks They must be addressed to enable certain IS functions e g information sharing and positioning of resources The results also highlight several institutional factors e g mutual interest between members collective problem solving secrecy aspects which are believed to play a key role in the success or failure of the collaborations and which must be addressed in the development of IS support The actors also have substantial basic needs for training e g fire extinguishing first aid and emergency supplies e g fire extinguishers healthcare kits Applying user participation also faced challenges the major one being the development of a future cross sector collaboration in a context that does not yet exist and involving stakeholders from resource strained organisations in doing so The stakeholders and sometimes also the primary end users are partly unknown and tasks are undefined As a response to these challenges a combination of activities based on multiple design groups scenario based Future Workshops focus groups the context specific framework a practical exercise and an after action review was provided The framework which was used to support data collection and user participation includes 15 dimensions each intended to represent important aspects of cross sector collaboration The thesis major contributions are the identified opportunities challenges and need as a sociotechnical ensemble and generated and from several studies thus being comparable The thesis more theoretical contributions is the combined application of the sociotechnical ensemble view and network governance where the studied collaboration forms are characterised as a hybrid form of networks and more traditional government mechanisms and where it is pointed out that network governance lacks explicit IS IT aspects In a wider perspective the research fields of IS and political science may cross fertilise each other when studying emerging cross sector collaboration in the public sector Identified user participation challenges relevant to the cross sector collaboration context suggestions on how they can be handled and the context specific framework are contributions that can be used in practical user centred IS development in similar contexts Informationssystem IS anvnds idag i de flesta verksamheter inom respons och rddningsomrdet t ex fr beslutsst d kommunikation informationsutbyte och resurspositionering Fel i systemen kan bidra till misslyckad

Kornblith and His Critics Joshua DiPaolo, Luis R.G. Oliveira, 2025-11-04 A wide ranging engagement with one of contemporary epistemology's most influential thinkers Hilary Kornblith is one of the world's leading philosophers theorizing about knowledge and related issues. A key figure in the naturalized epistemology tradition Kornblith integrates traditional empiricism with contemporary cognitive science rejecting inward looking first person approaches in favor of a third person scientifically grounded perspective on mind and knowledge. Kornblith's contributions have reshaped debates about the nature and structure of knowledge justification and epistemic normativity he has challenged the legitimacy of conceptual analysis and the reliability of reflection and reasoning besides charting and defending a mature and self consciously naturalistic philosophical methodology. By exploring this terrain Kornblith and His Critics offers an in depth examination of some of the most unique and innovative work in the last 40 years of anglophone epistemology. This volume brings together fifteen original essays by leading philosophers engaging with Kornblith's work each written specifically for this collection. Organized into three main thematic sections Knowledge and Justification Reflection and Inference and Naturalism and Methodology the collection systematically traces and tests the implications of Kornblith's work across key debates. The volume also includes a substantial reply from Kornblith offering his own response to the critical challenges raised by the incisive contributions. Kornblith and His Critics is ideal for graduate and advanced undergraduate philosophy students especially those taking a variety of courses on epistemology and philosophical methodology. Key features include A complete and detailed overview of how Kornblith's work compares with and contributes to key debates in epistemology Cutting edge engagement with the foundations nature and future of naturalized epistemology Thorough discussion of core issues in epistemology from the nature of knowledge justification and inference to the epistemic value of reflection and conceptual analysis A lengthy and unique reply by Hilary Kornblith directly addressing the critical challenges raised by the incisive contributions A systematic and thematic structure for easy integration into graduate and upper level undergraduate courses Kornblith and His Critics is a vital resource for researchers and instructors within philosophy programs in both MA and PhD curricula as well as general readers interested in post analytic and empirically informed philosophy
