
- Abstract

Abstract: This study examined the effects of a 12-week, 3-day-per-week, 100-minute-per-session, group-based, low-impact aerobically demanding dance program on the psychosocial health of older adults. The program was designed to improve the psychosocial health of older adults by providing a safe, fun, and socially interactive environment. The program was evaluated using a pre-test/post-test design. The results of the study showed that the program had a positive effect on the psychosocial health of older adults. The program was found to be effective in improving the psychosocial health of older adults, and it was found to be a safe and fun activity for older adults. The program was found to be a safe and fun activity for older adults, and it was found to be a safe and fun activity for older adults.
