Riots: Let's turn poison into medicine

SGI-UK members have deepened their determination to work towards the creation of a peaceful society in the wake of riots which began in Tottenham and spread to other parts of London and cities around the UK, writes Roy Stone.

For the safety of members, the London centres were closed for several days and local leaders cancelled some meetings – but throughout the turmoil members continued to chant abundant daimoku for peace on our streets and to make great efforts to hold sincere dialogues with friends and neighbours.

Jenny Waine, Women's Division HQ Leader for East Haringey, writes: "The members in East Haringey have been holding daimoku meetings for the peace, prosperity and happiness of the people living in Tottenham and Wood Green. One member said that, from her daimoku, she has decided that as the violence started in Tottenham and spread, Tottenham will also be the place from which the great growth of Kosen-ruffu will start and spread. We are having great dialogues with people on the street, in the libraries and in the parks, and I'm sure we're going to see many more great capable people attending our discussion meetings this month. Men's Division District Leader for North Tottenham, Chafu Modu, who

Students create One Europe with Sensei

On Thursday, 4 August, a total of 155 members – including the fantastic support team – representing 14 European countries, were united for the European Student Treets course 2011, writes Sofia Pavan.

14 Student Division members from the UK attended, as well as one Solka, one Labac and four senior leaders. The course began in high spirits with a wonderful opening ceremony. The potent theme was, One Europe With Sensei: Shine, Win & Write Our Great History of Human Revolution! It was a weekend packed with inspiring lectures for the students of Europe to open the path for victory. We were encouraged to "take responsibility and be the script writers of our destiny". With this message we realised the great mission of the Student Division, to be the beacons of light in our societies and to use our knowledge to create utmost value. By putting our studies at the forefront, along with our practice, we can see them to achieve happiness in our homes, our districts, our countries and the world. The course ended in a joyful cultural festival where every performance was a heartfelt and powerful celebration of victory. There was a real sense of a united Europe and a great feeling of "many in body one in mind" as we forged great bonds and shared our powerful determinations for positive change in our societies.

DAILY ENCOURAGEMENT

Positive human connections and the mentor-disciple relationship are indispensable in guiding people to enlightenment in the Latter Day of the Law. By respecting others, we have built a network dedicated to good, a truly humanistic alliance. Its growth has contributed tremendously to bringing forth people's goodness and humanity. This ripple effect or chain reaction of one person positively inspiring another will help elevate the spiritual state of people as a whole, change society for the better, bring peace and security to the land, and ultimately transform the destiny of all humankind.
